ELECTION FOR COUNCIL IN TUDOR AND CASHEL

There will be an election for all seats on the Council in Tudor and Cashel. The School Board was elected by acclamation.

For Reeve, Verse McMurray will be opposed by Harry Hamm.

For the four seats on the Council, there will be seven names on the ballot: Burton Baker, Gilmour; Arnold Burkitt, Gunter; Perry Cooney, Gunter; Archie Gunter, Millbridge; John Landon, Millbridge; William Norman, Millbridge, and Ross Sprackett, Gilmour.

The election will be held on Monday, December 6th.

ELZEVR TOWNSHIP TO HAVE VOTE FOR REEVE

It will be an election all the way around in Elzevir and Grimshtorpe townships on December 6th.

FIREMEN MEET IN MADOC

Over ninety members, representing fifteen fire departments attended the annual meeting of the Hastings and Prince Edward Mutual Aid Association held in the Madoc town hall last night. The Madoc Department were hosts and the visitors were welcomed by Mr. C. R. Hagerman.

The Madoc firemen wish to thank all those who helped in any way with the tag day last Saturday.

Incumbent Clayton McMurray and Bill Credicott will fight it out for the reevehip.

Ed Alexander, Kenneth Cassidy, Joseph Kehoe, Kenneth Smith and Charles Reavie will contest the four council seats.

SECOND NOMINATION IN MADOC VILLAGE

As only three nominees qualified for four seats as councillors on Madoc Village council, another nomination has been called for tonight. If an election is necessary it will be held on Monday, December 13. Reeve Burnside was again elected by acclamation as were councillors Barton, Hagerman and White.

Public School trustees re-elected were Ed Armstrong, Wilfrid Forestell and John Wagner.

Clarence Farrow was re-elected by acclamation to the Hydro Commission.

Roswald Dafeo, a member of the 1965 council was nominated, but stated he did not intend to qualify on account of personal reasons.

Harry Roscoe was also nominated for councillor, but did not qualify. He is the village's representative on the Centre Hastings High School Board.

Following the official nomination, Miss Olive Ashe, Village Clerk, acted as chairman for the meeting.

Geo. Devolin, chairman, reported for the Public School Board, referring to the need of a three-room addition. When the school was built there were nine teachers with a pupil enrolment of 285. Today there are ten teachers and an enrolment of 353 pupils. The new addition has been approved by the Department of Education and passed by the village council. The Municipal Board has yet to give its approval. Mr. Devolin stated it was hoped that the addition would be ready for the re-opening of school in September.

Harry Roscoe reported for the Centre Hastings High School. He said the past year had been a successful one and that out of 16 who wrote Grade 13 examinations, there had been 12 graduates. He mentioned the increase in attendance at the school. In 1964 there were 448 pupils and in 1965, 554 pupils. With this increase in attendance he felt that an addition to the school would have to be built in about five years.

Reeve Burnside in his remarks referred to the work that had been completed in the village this year and the major projects planned for the future.

The two new bridges built on No. 7 and No. 62 highways and the construction work on the streets recently completed. The bridges had cost $103,000 and the other work $260,00. The cost of this work to the village was between four and five thousand dollars.

Future work is the addition of a secondary disposal plant, which has high priority, the rebuilding of St. Lawrence Street in the West end of the village and the installation of water and sewage in the west.

Mr. Burnside said he didn't believe that the village was responsible for more than 10 per cent of the trouble at Moira Lake, but for public relations reasons, if for no other, the secondary disposal plant should be built. He said the Ontario Water Resources had been contacted to give an estimate of the cost, if the present plant was taken over, a secondary plant built and operated by them. To date no word has been received from them.

Other members of the Council, Roswald Dafeo, Cecil Hagerman and T. C. Barton reported for the various village committees. In his remarks, Mr. Barton said in certain parts of the village water pressure was very low and in order for the Anglican rectory to get any water there had to be 13 feet of water in the storage tank. He felt that this tank should be raised three sections. He also referred to the amount of water being pumped and said he believed that there was a major break in the line, but so far they had been unable to find it.

COUPLE CELEBRATED 30th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

On Saturday evening, November 27th the family of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pack gathered at the Hotel Havelock for a dinner in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Pack's 30th Wedding Anniversary. After the meal, an attractively decorated cake was served.

Following the dinner, the family returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pack where they were presented with a toaster and rocking chair.

FED. OF AGRICULTURE HELD ANNUAL BANQUET IN MADOC

One of the largest attendances to date turned out for the Hastings County Federation of Agriculture annual banquet held in the new Sacred Heart Parish Hall in Madoc on Tuesday evening of this week. Following a bounteous dinner served by the ladies of the church, Mr. Griffin Ketcheson, president of the federation welcomed all present and acted as chairman for the evening's program.

Mr. Wilfrid Forestell, secretary, introduced the head table and other special guests and in the absence of Reeve Burnside, who was unable to be present, welcomed all to Madoc.

Entertainment provided by Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy and Miss Lynn Armstrong was enjoyed by those present. Mr. Murphy accompanied Miss Armstrong, vocalist, and Mrs. Murphy who rendered several violin selections. Appreciation was extended to the entertainers by Mr. Ross Ketcheson.

The guest speaker, Mr. Charles Munro, of Embro, Ont., was introduced by Mr. Russell Sills, who said Mr. Munro was active in farm organizations. He operates a 300-acre farm in Oxford County and milks an average of 60 cows. He recently attended the 1965 Ontario Farm Labour Conference where he presented a brief.

The subject of Mr. Munro's address was "The Automated Society: 'Good or Bad,'" and his address appears on page 5 of this issue.

The presentation of a Safety Hat on behalf of the County Federation Insurance Committee was made by Mr. Arthur Bates. The recipient was Mr. Clem Trevorton and in his absence was accepted by Mr. Wm. Bateman.

Other speakers who gave short talks included the Hastings County Dairy Princess; Mr. Daley, O.F.A. fieldman; Fred Beckett, Warden of Hastings County; Lee Grills, M.P. Hastings South; Rob Webb, M.P. Hastings-Frontenac; Glen Cob; Geo. Carlisle; Murney Bateman; Phil Flagler, C.J.B.Q. farm newscaster; Roy Ketcheson and Rev. F. J. O'Neill, Parish Priest.

Tribute was paid during the evening to the Sacred Heart congregation for their fine new parish hall with its attractive furnishings and to the ladies of the congregation for the excellent meal. With the exception of a tea and bazaar this was the first function to be held in the new hall.

NO ELECTION IN HUNTINGDON TWP.

There will be no election in Huntingdon Township this year as the Reeve Goldie McInroy and all members of the Council were elected by acclamation. The School Board was also elected by acclamation.

MEN'S and BOYS' WEAR

DEAR DORIS

advice from
Doris Clark

To Save A Son

DEAR DORIS — I have a son 15. He used to do well in school but now he acts (part of the time) as if he has the mind of a five-year-old.

My husband seems to hate this son, and makes fun of him for stammering. Upon the slightest provocation he hits him about the head with anything he gets his hands on. Lately the boy has been taking spells of things going black before his eyes and his head hurting.

If the boy deserved punishment, and he did it in a sensible way, I would not interfere, but I cannot stand by and let him kill him. I am afraid to go to the police; that would bring about a big court scene. I love my boy and it would break my heart to have him snatched away from me because of something his father does.

My husband has a sneaky underhanded way of getting people on his side. He is what you call "a public saint and a home devil."

Caught

DEAR CAUGHT — Such a man is terrifying; but you are not one who must summon enough courage to do what must be done, for the sake of your children. The damage to your 15-year-old may already be permanent.

The laws which protect children do not require that they be snatched from their mothers; but they do enable a court to rule against physical and mental abuse from a father.

The police and the child care authority will work together to help you. Act now!

DEAR DORIS — There is a very good looking boy working here. Every time I see this boy I start to shake and my stomach gets all butterflies. I would very much like to meet him. I have been told he does not like girls, but will talk to them if they are with his two friends.

Boy chasing is not one of my habits and I think it disgraceful the way some of the girls around here do. How can I possibly meet this boy, but not seem forward?

Shy But Hopeful

DEAR SHY — Are you thinking you can beat the average and make him like you? All I can suggest is a little disgraceful conniving with the two friends. Unless you'd scorn, a little less, the drop-the-hanky routine.

If the butterflies do no more for you, they may help you sympathize with your bolder sisters, who also recognize what they want and go after it. Happy hunting!

DEAR DORIS — My wife and I have a daughter being married soon. The groom-to-be is from England and his people will not be able to attend.

For this reason the young couple want to appoint a couple here to act as proxy for them. Since the boy tells me there isn't anyone here that his parents know I can't see the object in it.

I have already shot down quite a number of their balloons but this one needs other opinions to help.

Doubtful

DEAR DOUBTFUL — I can't see it either. The only semi-official act performed by the groom's parents is that of standing in the receiving line. They are there to meet their son's friends. No one can do that by proxy.

If the groom is thinking that he wants the moral support of a certain older couple, he can have it. They could be invited to help serve and introduce guests around.

His official moral and physical support — on this day of high moments and tensions — is his best man.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN HEAR TALK ON ART OF BALLET

Miss Lillian Jarvis of the dance staff of the National Ballet School in Toronto spoke on "Ballet as a Communicative Art" at November meeting of University Women's Club of Belleville and district members of the National Ballet Guild, Belleville branch were guests at this meeting.

Miss Jarvis told her audience that the word "dance" is an absolute term which includes all forms while "ballet" is one specific form. There are many styles of dancing but only two kinds, good and bad. She defined dance as the expression by the body in movement of ideas, images, and emotions which are communicable in no other way. Dance, in a language of its own, expresses emotions beyond the limits of words.

The speaker stressed that the message of the dance is more important than the particular form of expression used. The body is trained to be an instrument for the communication or understanding between the dancer and the audience.

Miss Jarvis traced the history of ballet from its origin at the Court of Louis XIV of France, where it was merely a social recreation of the aristocracy, to the modern concept of the dance as a living painting of the drama of mankind. It was Peter the Great of Russia who interested the common people in ballet. There followed a great development there in the technique, content, and mass popularity of the dance.

There was a new awakening in ballet in the early 1900's. In 1909 the Russian ballet impresario Diaghilev founded in Paris Diaghilev's Russian ballet with choreographer Fokine. Dancers included the famous Pavlova and Nijinsky.

Isadora Duncan, a famous American dancer of the early 1900's, was a daring dynamic innovation who greatly influenced modern dance. Ruth St. Denis was another famous American dancer and teacher of this period.

In England Anthony Tudor influenced ballet trends by using content related to the emotions of real people in real situations in contrast to the fantasy portrayed in early ballet.

Miss Jarvis was enthusiastic about modern dance which she teaches at the National Ballet School in Toronto. She praised Martha Graham, an American leader in modern dance. She feels that modern dance attempts to portray the inner world of man's experience and to create a sympathetic response in the audience. She feels that there is no conflict between ballet and modern dance. In explaining the difference between these two dance forms, Miss Jarvis said that ballet relies on set forms and techniques and is restricted to linear movements whereas modern dance has more free movements used to depict motivation within human beings. Where ballet "concentrates", modern dance "explores."

Miss Jarvis concluded with the thought that in this age where communication is such a vital aspect of everyone's lives ballet must broaden in every aspect of content and technique. She said that the National Ballet of Canada is praised for its youth and vitality, but it has not yet evolved a truly national character of its own.

In a question period following her address, Miss Jarvis answered at length many questions.

Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon introduced Miss Jarvis, and Mrs. P. Belton presented her with a gift and expressed the appreciation of the club members and their guests.

During the preceding business meeting Mrs. R. Graham, chairman of the club's Centenary committee, reported that she had attended a conference concerning centenary pro-

Salute to School Boards

From one coast of Canada to the other in most cities and large towns citizens from 18 to 80 (providing the teenagers are not still attending High School) may participate in a program of adult education. What an opportunity this provides to broaden our horizons. This may be a frayed and outworn cliché, but how applicable it is to these classes.

In my travels I have found persons who have become professional in the crafts they chose to learn merely as a hobby. One now teaches the making of hats in another high school's evening instruction program. It has become her livelihood. Another has established a studio and is now a well known artist. A third took the bookkeeping course and, believe it or not, now has an office and specializes in bookkeeping for small concerns and income tax returns for bewildered citizens who feel they cannot complete their own forms. We could never count the hundreds whose typing course has meant security as a breadwinner.

I want to salute the school boards of this country for making the project planning for Belleville and surrounding communities. She reminded the members of the C.F.U.W. Centenary Book project of an additional scholarship for 1967.

Mrs. R. K. Jeffrey, a member of the Women's Advisory Committee of the Department of Economics and Development, spoke to the members regarding a Trade Crusade featuring a "Buy Canadian Week." This will be preceded by a conference for women to be held on Tuesday, February 22, at the Sun Valley Motor Inn in Belleville.

SUSANNA'S FAMILY FARE

tips n' topics

Socks For First Aid

DEAR SUSANNA: Since I hate waste, I find many, many uses for outgrown and mismatched socks — and every household usually has its share. Of course, the ones I'm discussing are still in good shape and beautifully laundered.

A white ankle sock with the toe end cut off, makes a perfect bandage cover for a knee or elbow. Pulled over the bandage, the natural shape of the sock adapts itself to the contour of the joint, and keeps the bandage clean. The leg only of a child's long white stocking, can be used as a circular bandage cover for an injured shin or arm.

Drop several moth balls into the toe of a loosely woven one, snap an elastic band snugly around the top and hang in the back of a clothes closet to help protect clothes from moths.

A heavy pair of old socks pulled on over the hands make cushioned venetian blinds as much of a snap as justing venetian blinds can be. Nothing makes them really fun to do.

Light-colored socks in various shades can be dyed to match as long as they are the same weave and style.

I should also mention a similar idea to the lovely sock quilt suggestion you have already written about in your column. The strong leg parts of otherwise worn-out men's socks make a novel quilt top. Use the blanket stitch to sew uniform squares to precut material ones. When hand knit diamond and other fancy-patterned socks are used, the quilt becomes quite a conversation piece.

A not-so-well youngster confined to bed for the day will find diversion in making a friendly puppet. Have the child embroider a face of colored yarn on the toe of a discarded sock. Add some tufts of wool for hair, and a whimsical, amusing, hand puppet comes to life.

M.A.

DEAR SUSANNA: Why not take the easy way out and do it now! Don't wait for the big snows to blow before you cut your Christmas greens. The fragrant pine and spruce boughs you will want for decorating the house in December can be made ready today.

Take these wintry greens to the basement and wash them well with warm water and detergent in your deep laundry tubs. Leave them to soak for an hour in a clear warm rinse.

Remove from the water and shake thoroughly to remove all the excess moisture. Tie a number of branches together and cover loosely with a plastic cleaning bag to keep them clean. Now hang the boughs upside down out in the garage where it is cool, until you are ready to decorate or make a centerpiece.

Miss M. Huston

If you plan to use pine cones in your decorations but discover that the ones you've been saving all this time have closed up and become dingy, you can brighten them considerably.

Submerge the cones completely in bleach for an hour to lighten the color — they will turn a tawny autumn shade. Dry them off and place in the oven at a low temperature for about 15 minutes — or until they open up. Now aren't they the sprucest pine cones you ever saw?

SUSANNA

DEAR SUSANNA: Cole slaw moistened with the juice from sweet pickles is most tasty!

Mrs. D. Doughtry.

HASTINGS COUNTY 4-H AWARDS' NIGHT

A Belleville district girl and a Bonarlaw boy received top honours at the annual Hastings County 4-H Awards' Night held Friday night in Centre Hastings High School in Madoc.

Christine Brown, member of the Belleville Jersey Calf Club was named the outstanding club girl during her membership in 4-H agricultural club work, while Gary McComb, a member of the county senior calf club, won the boys' counterpart prize.

Miss Brown received the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce silver tray, while the Bonarlaw boy received a wristwatch from the same banking firm.

The auditorium of the Madoc high school was filled to capacity for the annual awards night, which saw prizes and other awards won during the 4-H club year handed out to club members.

Calvin White of Detlor, president of the 4-H Club Leaders' Association, was chairman for the awards' night program.

The guest speaker was Lyall McLachlan, former associate agricultural representative for Hastings county, now attending Michigan State University at East Lansing where he is studying for his master's degree in agricultural science. Following Lyall's speech a presentation was made to him on behalf of the Club Leaders, 4-H members, Junior Farmers, and interested parents. This presentation consisted of a suitably engraved wrist watch and a purse of money.

Although down from a peak membership of 427 two years, there were 386 4-H Club members enrolled this year in 25 different clubs. Eight of the clubs had 100 per cent completion, while 331 members completed all projects.

Gary McComb, as the outstanding 4-H Club boy, has completed 17 club projects, while Miss Brown has completed eight clubs.

Kalvin Sharp and Edward Wilson ended in a tie for the honour of being the outstanding club member of the year. Both received $15 in cash from the Victoria & Grey Trust Company.

The 4-H Club work is in charge of Agricultural Representative W. D. Tipper. Lyall McLachlan, until he left for Michigan State University in September; home economist Miss Janet Munroe, and Larry Bertrand, extension fieldman.

The Tweed calf club with 32 members was the largest club in the county organization, followed by the Madoc Potato Club with 23 members and the Stirling Calf Club with 22 members. Both the Stirling Calf Club and the Madoc Potato Club had 100 per cent completion.

Among the homemaking clubs three members were presented with provincial honours in recognition of completing 12 projects. Marjorie Palmateer, of Chapman's, Marlene Mitchell of Quinte, and Betty Holland of Eldorado, received provincial pins.

Beverly Ketcheson, Madoc, was one of seven delegates to attend the National 4-H Week convention in November. She has completed 12 homemaking clubs and 10 agricultural clubs.

The boys also stood high in provincial competitions and intercounty judging.

Chief amongst these was the presentation of the Royal Winter Fair Dairy Judging trophy by Warden Frederick Beckett. This trophy was formally presented to team members, Robert Bird, Calvin Sharp, and Ted Reid.

All clubs were presented on the stage. Their regular club prize money was received and the individual trophies presented. The latter part of the evening featured the presentation of county awards. These are itemized as follows:

Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce Bulova Watch—Gary McComb, Bonarlaw, awarded to the outstanding 4-H club boy during his membership in 4-H Agricultural Club Work.

Why are you* headed for higher automobile insurance costs?

Because an "average" accident last year cost $810...a jump of $113 in just 5 years

Automobile insurance rates in most areas of Canada will increase in 1966. Prudent drivers ask why premiums should rise again. Here are the key reasons:

- Every year the number of vehicles on Canadian roads is increasing... but the total cost of accidents in the past five years has gone up three times as fast as the number of cars which together must provide the money to pay for these accidents.
- And during the past five years the number of accidents has spiralled much faster than the number of cars that are on the road.
- In that same period the total cost of insurance claims has doubled.
- Since 1960 this claims cost has been climbing at an average of $40 million a year. This year's insurance bill for accidents will total $400 million.
- Each accident costs more than it did five years ago — the result of more expensive and luxurious cars, increasing repair costs, higher medical expenses and compensation for time off work or lost income.

The only way to stop this spiral is to have fewer accidents. That is the best way, too, to cut the tragic toll of 4,500 deaths and 150,000 injuries in Canada each year. Safety pays... it saves lives and dollars.

*Even Good Drivers Have Accidents

Drivers with a three-year accident-free record earn a 35 per cent discount off basic insurance rates. But even good drivers have accidents. Eighty per cent of all accidents are caused by people who have driven three or more years without an accident. That is why the basic rates go up for everyone—even the good driver who still gets his discount.

$4,144.37 STILL NEEDED FOR ARTIFICIAL ICE

A lengthy meeting of the Madoc Recreation Committee was held in the Council Chambers on Monday night when all accounts were ordered to be paid.

Bud Reid reported on the 'Ball Park' and turned over $100.00 which paid all outstanding rent.

On motion of Tom Burnside and Glen Nickle the $10,000 Insurance Policy on the arena was left the same until the January meeting.

Monday, December 6th was set to canvass for funds in Madoc and Huntingdon townships and the balance of Madoc Village.

On motion of T. C. Barton and Kel Kincaid, the recommended pipe be ordered immediately.

There was a lengthy discussion regarding funds to complete the job. This includes the building for the compressor, pipe, welding pipe, header, ammonia, etc., $4,144.37.

In looking over the list of contributions to the fund it was found that there were still some places of business in the village who had yet to make a donation. It is hoped that these will be received as soon as possible.

The high school students will be calling from house to house selling light bulbs. Your co-operation is appreciated as every $1.00 will help.

A number from Madoc were in Stirling on Sunday afternoon where four minor hockey teams from Madoc were registered for the 1965-66 season.

INTERSECTION OF NO. 14 AND 401 HIGHWAYS TO BE LIGHTED

Favourable consideration has been given by the Department of High-

MADOC W.I.

Mrs. Warren Hill was hostess Friday evening to the Madoc Women's Institute. As President, she opened the meeting with a short poem, the Institute Ode and Collect.

The roll call "Say something nice about your neighbour" was answered humorously and seriously by eighteen members and one visitor.

The treasurer's report showed a good balance after bills paid. Arrangements were made for the Christmas meeting at Mrs. Tanner's with the usual exchange of gifts and parcels to be sent to the shut-ins.

Mrs. E. Moore presented a condensed coverage of the "Consumer's Report." A few highlights were: Beware of Pesticides, Know them and how to use them, Fruit drinks, Full pounds in packages, Interests on money borrowed, Beware of door-to-door salesmen, etc.

Mrs. S. R. Beatty gave a brief report of the Dept. of Economics. The theme of the chairman, Mrs. Limbiness' address was "Buy Canadian."

Mrs. A. Empey gave a few current events.

Mrs. Dan Brownson contributed a reading "The Hardwood Churn."

Mrs. Wallace read a very interesting paper on the motto, "He who thinks for himself is among those who are solving the world's problems."

The guest speaker, Miss Grace Warren, of Marmora, took as her subject "Agriculture." She gave the farmer a real boost for his endurance, in spite of all sorts of frustrations. It was all very true and presented in a most humorous manner.

Mrs. Gates read an account about the "Old Wooden Tub." This tub served as a bath tub near the old kitchen range of years ago in many homes.

The Bus Trip to Toronto is to be December 11th starting at 8 a.m.

Mrs. Tanner thanked all who took part in a very enjoyable meeting.

The meeting closed with "The Queen."

An Auction Sale was held of cakes, jams, jellies, plants, etc., the proceeds to be used for Christmas treats.

The hostess and her assistants served a dainty lunch and a social hour was enjoyed by all.

MRS. EMMA WICKENS ROONEY

Funeral services were held Monday, November 29th for Mrs. Emma Wickens Rooney (formerly Emma Jane Lidster) of Edmonton, Alberta, from the Weaver Funeral Home, Trenton, to White Lake Cemetery.

Rev. J. A. Payton officiated.

Bearers were Harold, Jack and Joseph Wickens, Cecil Scott, Arnold Cronkwright and Harry Bryans.

Mrs. Rooney died Wednesday, November 24th in Edmonton at the age of 63. Born in Ivanhoe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wickens, she had lived in Edmonton for two years and in Trenton for many years before that.

An adherent of the United Church, she was a former member of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Trenton Branch, Royal Canadian Legion.

She is survived by her husband, Ernest Rooney, Edmonton; four sons, Joseph Lidster, Codrington, Ontario, Ivan Lidster, Trenton, Alvin Lidster, of Kingston, Ontario, and Gary Lidster, Spanish, Ontario; two daughters, Mrs. C. (Ila) Howard, Belleville, and Mrs. Wm. (Alice) Davis, R.R. 1, Trenton.

Also surviving are four brothers, Archie of Fuller; Joseph of Ivanhoe; and George and William of Trenton, and two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Cronkwright, Trenton, and Mrs. William (Alice) Bryans, Midland. There are 17 grandchildren and one great grandchild. She was predeceased by a brother, Jack.

THE AUTOMATED SOCIETY - GOOD OR BAD

The following is the address given by Mr. Charles Munro at the annual banquet of Hastings County Federation of Agriculture, on Tuesday night.

It is not a question of whether automation is good or bad. Rather, it is a question of whether we are going to be able to live with it — or more correctly — whether we are able to live in spite of it.

It should be remembered that many of our forebears came to this country because of the industrial revolution in old Old Country . . . but I would suggest to you that an opportunity for us to emigrate to new lands has become extremely limited in the intervening hundred-odd years unless, of course, we are prepared to consider the possibility of migrating to an entirely new universe — and this could be a possibility.

In a vast country such as Canada with our relatively small population of only 19 million people, I believe we should be making the greatest possible use of automation for the benefit of all society. Possibly our greatest need is for more people to enjoy the fruits of automation and utilize properly the vast resources with which we have been so generously endowed in this great land of ours.

But let us ponder for a moment what we mean by an automated society. In referring to Webster's dictionary, I find that "automation" means "that which is self-moving, a self-acting machine; a person who acts mechanically."

So I would assume that a literal interpretation could mean a society in which we use, to an ever-greater extent, self-acting machines. I trust we, as people, are not becoming mechanical or that we act mechanically. This would be a catastrophe. I assume the Canadian labour movement is vitally concerned over the speed with which people are being replaced by machines.

Recognition must be given to the fact that farmers are employers of labour and users of capital. Although we may, and generally speaking do, work physically at the job ourselves, our success depends to a great extent on our managerial ability. In the day-to-day operation of our farms, we must make use of the latest technological developments, yet in our day-to-day operations we require labour . . . our own . . . or employed labour.

Modern farming requires the largest capital outlay per worker of any industry in Canada. We are very conscious of the capital outlay that is required to set up and maintain a viable farm unit. We are very conscious of the fact that we cannot afford to fall behind in our farm practices for, if we fail to make the best use of the tools and machines that are designed to do a better and more efficient job, we fall behind our competitors in other lands — particularly the U.S. farmer.

We are in a position where, in this ever-shrinking world, we must compete with them in both domestic and world markets. Nor can we afford to fall behind in competition with our own neighbours at home . . . because every farmer is actually a small businessman . . . and each farmer is competing with his neighbour for a larger share of every dollar the consumer is willing to spend on food.

If you feel this is wrong in principle, let us take a look at the USSR where all farmers are employees of the state. Even with their vast areas of rich agricultural soil, they are forced to import large quantities of food.

I find, in my own farm enterprise, that I must keep myself constantly informed on the latest development, improved techniques, improved machines requiring, as they do, less labour to operate (labour costs have increased faster than any other factor since 1945) — then . . . I must find a way to purchase these new tools that have become essential if I am to maintain my competitive position.

This is not a new procedure, Mr. Chairman. It is a process that has been going on ever since this continent was first settled by the white man. We have progressed slowly over the years from heavy manual labour until, suddenly, we find ourselves in an age of farm mechanization verging on automation. I think it is worth a few minutes of our time to review this transition and attempt to determine why it has suddenly become such a serious social and economic problem.

You will recall, ladies and gentlemen, that, shortly after the beginning of the Second World War, our Canadian government saw fit to freeze the price of farm produce.

On the other hand, industry that was considered vital to the war effort was placed on a cost-plus basis. In other words, since labour was a factor in the cost of production, there was no need to keep labour costs down. Meanwhile, with the price of farm produce frozen, the farmer was placed in a hopeless and completely untenable position in the labour market. At the same time, farmers were being induced and even coerced to produce more and more food for Britain and our allies. In all modesty, I am able to say the response of the Canadian farmer was magnificent. But I remind you this was the beginning of the technological revolution. These were the conditions under which farmers were forced to mechanize. And, to make economical use of this mechanization, they were forced to expand. It has been a continuing process, for the price of farm commodities has never been able to catch up with the increase in the cost of other goods and services . . . and yet, a few short years later, some ill-informed people have had the audacity to call farmers hypocritical beggars — always looking for a hand-out from the government. Yet, and some labour officials have charged farmers with being exploiters of labour.

I have often wondered who the beneficiary has been in this transition to greater and greater mechanization in agriculture. Is it the farmer? Is it the industrialist? Is it the labour force? Is it the financier? Is it the consumer? Or has it been of benefit to all society?

I wonder, for example, whether we appreciate to what extent we bolstered our Canadian economy by the huge volume of wheat that has been exported in recent years. This created both direct and indirect employment. If it hadn't been for such things, would the Canadian labour force be as prosperous? Would we enjoy the same high rate of employment?

I submit that the transition in farming has been a significant contributing factor in the high level of employment, the high wage scale and the healthy position of most industry and financial institutions. And the following figures should prove that it has been of great benefit to the consumer for there is no disputing the fact that Canadians enjoy one of the highest standards of living in the world.

Canadian farmers are supplying the Canadian consumer with an abundance of good food at the cheapest price on the world in terms of an hour's pay. The figure I have shows that it takes only 18 1/2% of a man's income to supply his food requirements. The figure in Britain is 30%, its 45% in Italy and 60% in Russia.

Increases in farm efficiency have meant that one farm worker today produces food for 32 persons. In the 1930's, his production was sufficient for 10 people and, at the turn of the century, it was sufficient for only 6 people.

Putting it another way, between 1920 and 1940, the productivity of the farm worker, on the average, increased about 1.5% annually. Between 1940 and 1950, this productivity increased 2.5% per year. And between 1950 and 1960 the farm workers' productivity increased an average of 65% each year which was 3 times faster than the increase in efficiency for the industrial worker.

Let us not forget that the success story of agriculture is, in no small measure, the success story of our nation. Our industrial development . . . our high standard of living . . . our assured abundance of food . . . are all directly traceable to the ability of fewer and fewer Canadian farmers to produce more and more of the things we all too often take for granted.

It seems a little unfair, then, to always think and speak of agriculture in derogatory terms — in terms of its difficulty. Agriculture is much more of a success story than it is a problem. Yet we are so accustomed to the farmer's spectacular achievements that it is only his problems that make headlines. Too many people seem to take a sadistic delight out of holding the farmer up to ridicule and making him their private whipping boy, when they should be down on their knees giving thanks for all that he has done for them.

Then, too, we should not overlook the farmer's contribution to the economy as a consumer. He is not only a buyer of farm machinery and equipment — he and his family buy large quantities of everyday consumer goods such as clothing, radios, cosmetics, TV sets and all the other articles that are considered necessary in today's society.

As a practicing farmer, I must protest most vigorously a continuation of this cheap food philosophy which so many Canadian people seem to accept as their God-given right. Mechanization and automation are exerting an ever-increasing pressure on the small farmer and those whose holdings do not lend themselves to an application of modern techniques in farming. As Mr. Everett Biggs, our Deputy Minister of Agriculture has so aptly put it: "We cannot expect the Canadian farmer to continue to sacrifice himself on the altar of his own efficiency."

I repeat that I am not opposed to automation and it is not a question of whether it is good or bad. Rather, it is a question of whether or not we will be able to live with it and, if so, for what length of time. And this is a question that should be the concern of each and every one of you. For the most part, automation is costly, and practical only on large-scale farm operations. The prairie wheat land lends itself to this type of farming operation but I would point out that its adoption is creating some real problems in our livestock producing areas such as Ontario.

Large factory-type hog finishing operations are becoming popular; there is a definite trend toward producing beef in huge automated feed lots; laying flocks, broiler chicken and turkey producers are all swinging to a factory-type, fully-automatic, large-scale production.

Such operations require a huge capital investment in buildings and equipment. They are able to produce a huge volume of high quality produce at low cost . . . so low, in fact, that the average farmer is unable to compete. So what happens if this trend continues? For a time, you will be getting food at less and less cost but don't forget that more and more small farmers are being squeezed out of business and you may rest assured that, if and when production of food falls into the hands of a relatively few large producers, we will see an abrupt end to this era of cheap food. This is something for you to ponder over.

But there is another problem

Every time a farmer is forced off the land in the labour market or else, if he is not equipped for this type of employment, he will probably become a welfare case, and in this event, you will be called upon to contribute to his maintenance and support.

I hope that I have not left the impression that I am an alarmist who derives his pleasure as a cry of gloom and doom. I would hate to think that I might be placed in this category because I am very much of a realist . . . so much that I think it is high time people were made aware of the changes that are taking place around them.

We are not sentimentalists in our organization and I want to make it clear that we do not favour the perpetuation of uneconomical farm units for purely sentimental reasons and we do not advocate the subsidization of the inefficient farmer who lacks the ambition to help himself and who refuses to attempt to make a worthwhile contribution to society.

Agriculture must be a viable and progressive industry. We have no patience with those who advocate that we should endeavour to maintain the status quo. This philosophy can only lead to stagnation and decay.

I do not want to leave you with the impression that we are without compassion or without sympathy for the plight of the small farmer, who for various reasons, may not be able to make the necessary adjustments to permit him to compete. We, in the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, are indeed very much concerned that steps be taken to provide for the relocation of those farmers who are unfortunate enough to be placed in this position. To this end, we have not only established a Rural Development Committee within the OFA but we have given this committee priority over all others. We realize the gravity of this problem and the necessity for prompt action.

By the same token, I may as well let you know, very frankly, that we disapprove of the practice of feather-bedding in labour circles. Right now, we are more than a little disturbed over the manner in which the Ontario government is being pressured into making changes in the labour code as it affects the operation of heating plants in farmers' greenhouses. I speak of those farmers in Southwestern Ontario who produce winter crops such as hothouse tomatoes and cucumbers. These greenhouses are heated by low-pressure boilers which are, in basic principle, quite comparable to a hot water heating system you might have in your home. If legislation is brought in that will require the growers to hire firemen to operate such units, I can assure you it will mean there will be few, if any, fresh vegetables produced in Canada during the winter months.

This will serve to illustrate, I hope, that it would be to our mutual advantage to have a thorough understanding of the situation and I think this should be an appropriate place to enter into a frank discussion. I have no doubt you have reasons for requesting that such legislation be enacted. We have our reasons for opposing this legislation.

I hope you have come to the realization that every Canadian has a vital stake in the future of our agricultural industry. Because we are farmers . . . we have a responsibility to the nation . . . the responsibility of assuring that the people of this great country have an abundance of good food.

But, and I emphasize this point, if agriculture is to meet its responsibility to the nation, the nation must also meet its responsibility to agriculture and public understanding is part of this responsibility. I'm afraid that I will have to state that nothing could be plainer . . . than that the nation has not been meeting its responsibility to agriculture.

It is not a question of government owing farmers a living or guaranteeing them security of income. All that farmers want now . . . and all they ever wanted . . . is a climate of equal economic opportunity with the other basic producers in our Canadian society . . . and I submit this is not an unreasonable request to make. We are told the national average industrial wage is about $4,500.00 per year. This compares with the national average realized net income for Canadian farmers in the year 1964 of about $3,800.00 . . . a difference of $700.00 a year.

I appreciate the difficulty you must experience when you try to reconcile such statements with the current publicity this is being given to the fact that, during 1964, farmers enjoyed an increase of 13.5% in realized net farm income. I must concede this is an accurate figure . . . at least it is as accurate as any we can hope to obtain, for these are the figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. We must realize, however, this rise of 13.5% was for all farmers in Canada and here is the important point . . . while the realized net farm income of farmers on the prairies increased 30.5% or was up by some 214.3 million dollars over 1963 . . . the realized net farm income of Ontario farmers was down 26.7 million dollars or 7.1% less in 1964 than it was in 1963.

These are things that require the understanding of every Canadian citizen.

In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, let me repeat once again it is not a question of whether automation is good or bad. Let me make it perfectly clear that the real threat to rural Canada does not lie in scientific and technical progress itself. The real threat lies in our inability, or our failure if you like, to direct the changes growing out of that progress to meet the real needs and wants of all society and all the people of this young nation.

It is utterly inconceivable to me . . . that in this Canadian society . . . there is a lack of resources . . . a lack of ingenuity . . . or a shortage of determination to solve this complex problem. I would suggest, however, there is a definite lack of understanding.

Common Sense Has Prevailed

Besides the near-miraculous fact that the U-N is still around, the really astounding thing about the world organization is that after 20 years the U-N's prospects look so good.

The U-N took a tremendous beating during the past twelve months, particularly as a result of the dispute over peace-keeping costs. During this period it seemed at times that the U-N would follow the League of Nations into oblivion.

But today this sad possibility is not evident because if the past year's adversity proved anything, it's that the United Nations organization is a wonderfully rugged mechanism which has a definite role to play in world affairs.

It was noteworthy that in spite of all the previous pessimism about the U-N the great, medium and small countries looked to the world organization in September when open warfare broke out between India and Pakistan.

With the blessings and urgings of the U.S. and Russia, Secretary General U Thant was dispatched to the Indian subcontinent to try to dampen the flames of war.

When Thant was temporarily unsuccessful the big powers brought their influence to bear through the U-N Security Council to achieve the present, albeit shaky, cease-fire.

Whatever the outcome of the U-N effort in the Kashmir dispute, the important thing which must be remembered is that when the chips were down in September, the U-N was the only instrument of international action which could be utilized to stop the flames of war from expanding.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg underlined the amazing viability of the world organization in his speech when he said:

"Many observers and many people throughout the world have raised the question about the future of the United Nations as an international organization devoted to the concepts of the Charter.

"I do not share this cynicism nor do I share this pessimism. I am not, of course, unmindful, nor can I be after being here these several weeks, of the tremendous problems which confront all countries of the world.

"My optimism is based upon a very simple principle and that principle is this: That if we did not have the United Nations in existence today, we would be recreating a United Nations in order to cope with the same problems with which we are struggling."

Since 1945 the U-N has been called upon to ease tensions and reduce violence in various trouble spots. It is true that almost every U-N peace-keeping effort has been characterized by at least one element of failure. The Kashmir and Arab-Israeli disputes are perhaps the best examples. As for Cyprus, it may be only a matter of time before the Cypriots are again cutting each other's throats. In Korea and the Congo, the U-N interventions were anything but a complete success because the former is still divided and the latter is still in turmoil.

Nevertheless it would be foolish to discount the important positive contributions that U-N peace-keeping operations have made. There can be no question that an uneasy truce in the Middle East or on Cyprus or in the Congo is far better than a third world war.

And if the U-N peace-keeping role has been successful, then Canada can take a great portion of the credit.

Canada has faithfully kept her armed forces available since the creation of the U-N Emergency Force in 1956, which was proposed by Lester B. Pearson, then foreign minister.

Canadians also served in the Congo, in Cyprus, and the U-N Observation Mission in Kashmir was under command of Canadian Maj. Gen. Bruce MacDonald.

8,685 teachers throughout Ontario have had Xmas Seals placed in their hands. 761 Banks will shortly receive them. Some of the other organizations which are already at work are merchants, manufacturers, lawyers, real estate and insurance men. The necessity of the Xmas Seal Campaign is clearly shown in the following statement issued by the National Sanitarium Association. Tuberculosis killed 2,294 persons alone in Ontario in 1913, one every four hours. Tuberculosis kills one-tenth to one-seventh of our people. Tuberculosis kills one third of all who die between the ages of 18 and 45.

It is the opinion of the travellers returning from the north that the slaughter of deer this year will surpass any figure attained since game laws were enacted. Approximately 14,000 licences are issued annually but this gives little indication of the number of deer killed as fully 75 per cent of the holders fail to get their deer. Past estimates place the number in a season as 15,000 or higher. Last year the number was substantially increased owing to the extension of the season until Dec. 15th for settlers. This year it is expected that 20,000 deer and possibly a much greater number will have been killed by the end of the season. The increase is stated not to be entirely due to this extension of the season for settlers however. Sportsmen from every part of Ontario seem to have taken an unusual interest in game hunting.

On Monday evening fire broke out in the barn owned by Mr. Wm. Tennyson, Lot 11, Concession 5, Madoc Township and destroyed the building and with it the whole season's crop.

Reeve Jack Kincaid and all members of the Village Council as well as Hydro Commissioner and three Public School Trustees were elected by acclamation at the nomination meeting held last Friday night.

There will be an election for Reeve in Huntingdon Township this year with two councillors, Cecil Geen and Elmer Wood contesting the reevehip, the present reeve Arthur Hagerman having resigned. There will be no election for council with Mac Sables, Alfred Herrington, Elmer Wilson and Lloyd McCauley receiving acclamation.

Those Busy Years

My wife had just given Kim a five-minute blast because she wasn't working hard enough. This is almost a daily occurrence at our house. The results are usually the same: rebellion, hot words, rising voices, tears, sulks, and me wishing I were out in the boondocks.

This time, for some inexplicable reason, the Old Girl softened, after the daughter stalked off in a cold fury. "Poor kid. She does have a lot to do." Then she began to remember her own high school days, and to compare. The results were sobering, almost frightening.

When mother was in school, there were about 150 students. Classes began at 9. Teachers moved to the classrooms, at end of each period. There was a 15-minute recess morning and afternoon, in which the kids wandered the corridors at will, or fooled around outside, in good weather. There was an hour and a half for lunch. School ended at four p.m. That's five hours of class time.

In daughter's school, there are about 1,200 students. Classes begin at 9. She moves between periods, harassed and hurried and heckled by teachers telling her to move faster. There is a 30-minute lunch break. Half of this the kids spend in a line-up, trying to buy milk or eats. In the other half they gulp what they get. Rush back to classes. School ends at 3:15. That's five and three-quarter hours of class time.

After school, according to her own evidence, mother went down to the town library, picking up a nickel's worth of licorice all-sorts on the way. The early winter dusk crept to the window and looked in. And it saw a dark-haired youngster in the snug reading-room, rapt in a world of Anne of Green Gables, munching licorice.

About 5:30, her dad would tap on the window. She'd go out and snuggle down in the cutter, under the buffalo robe. And they'd jingle the two miles home, through the frosty night, in that most delightful of vehicles

Home was warmth, and the smell of supper, and a mother who spent all her time being a mother.

Compare the kid. After school there's orchestra practice or volleyball practice or French Club or Drama Club or year-book staff meeting. She staggers home, eight blocks, in the dark, with enough books to fill a wheelbarrow.

Not a whiff of dinner. Shh! Mom has music pupils today. Tip-toe upstairs. Dump books. Flop on bed. Revive slightly over chapter of James Bond. Strum ukelele and sing sad folk song. Father, beer in hand, appears at door.

"Listen, kid, better get at your homework! You can't loaf your life away."

"But, Dad, I just got..." "Don't bug me, kid. I hafta write a column (or mark papers, or set an exam). Get to work. Never mind. It's too late. Better get down and get the hamburgers ready. And when are you going to get your practising done?"

Go downstairs. Morosely make hamburgers. Mom emerges from piano lessons. "Kim, how much practising have you done, you lazy little bum?"

"Mom, how could I practise? You were using the piano and anyway, I just got..."

"Never mind the excuses. I don't see why you couldn't help with the ironing, when you know I'm busy. And stop stabbing that bun with the butcher knife!"

Evening. Three hours homework and two hours practising ahead. Father off curling. Mother muttering over the dishes about kids no matter how much you do for them they don't appreciate it and you'll never get anywhere with that attitude and when I was your age I didn't have any of the opportunities you have.

It's a wonder more of them don't creep down to the basement in the night, get the axe, and do their parents in. They probably would, if they weren't so utterly whacked.

FEED ASSISTANCE DEADLINE DEC. 15th

The original drought assistance program covering the purchase of feed in Eastern Ontario has now been changed. This program is still in effect but with a new deadline for applications. The date of this deadline is December 15, 1965. The program has now been re-named "The Federal-Provincial Adverse Weather Assistance Program - 1965." It still requires the basic application which has been given the December 15 deadline. The new part is to provide for special assistance to the pockets or small areas that had more difficult conditions to face during the year. This special assistance will be granted on the basis of individual applications where the farmer is able to give valid reasons as to why extra help is required.

Remember then that the basic application made on a green form has to be filed on or before December 15. If this does not provide enough help, then the individual farmer can make a special application on a grey form. He must have this filled on or before January 15, 1966.

Basic application forms and special application forms are available at the Ontario Department of Agriculture Office in Stirling. Also available are claim forms for purchases made under private sale.

COOPER
In ill health for the past year, Mr. James Anderson Plant, died Tuesday, November 23, 1965, in Toronto General Hospital. He was in his 73rd year.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Plant and had lived in Toronto before moving to the Cooper area 15 years ago. He was a retired cook at the Airforce Staff College in Toronto, and was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Never married, he is survived by a brother, John A. Plant of Cooper. Three brothers and a sister predeceased him.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon, November 26th with service conducted in the MacKenzie Funeral Home by Rev. J. H. Thompson.

Bearers were: Albert Fox, Ross Rollins, Lorne Irwin, Henry White-man, Earl Ferguson and Leonard Graham.

RABIES THREAT EVER CONSTANT

There is still danger from rabies in Canada. Wild animals that are rabid act quite out of character, showing no fear of bigger animals or man. Skunks are the most serious problem now and they in particular should be watched for in rural areas since they are often to be found searching garbage cans for food. A bite from any animal should receive prompt attention, unless it is a family pet. If it is a wild animal or a strange dog or cat, it would be advisable to notify the local game warden and see a doctor.

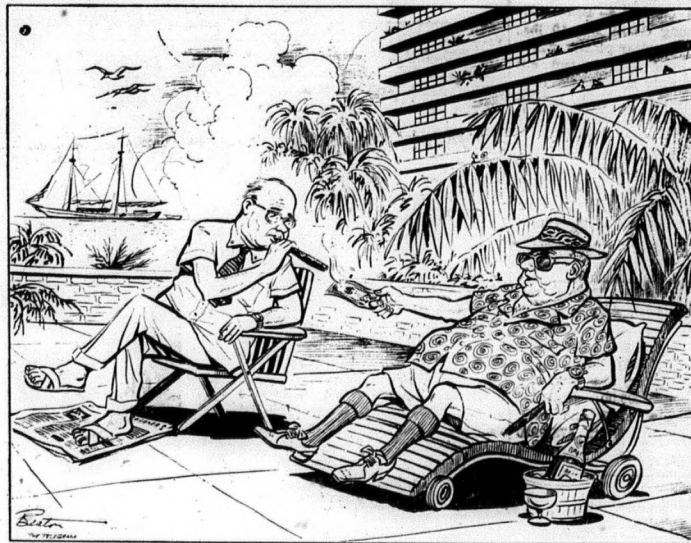

There is more water than land on the earth's surface.

Work is progressing at the Arena. The ice surface has been brought up to grade with marble dust. The foundation has been dug for the compressor building, according to specifications and carpenters are busy building forms for the footings. The finance committee has been working until the wee small hours of the morning making arrangements for a canvass of Madoc and Huntingdon townships. On December 6th a number of people from the village made a canvass in Madoc township where they were graciously received by everyone called upon. Unfortunately the canvassers found the territory larger than they expected and many people were missed. The committee is arranging another canvass in the township and asks all who were missed to hold their donation or mail it to Ken Broad, Box 455, Madoc.

The Committee is a little confused regarding the price of the piping. They have received two prices, one for the pipe installed, and one for the pipe alone. They want to make sure that it lasts for many years to come and they want to make sure that there won't be a leak after the concrete floor is poured.

Canadians are steadily losing confidence in the free enterprise system, according to a cross-country opinion survey. The erosion of support for private business enterprise has been going on steadily since the war.

This doesn't mean, however, that the nation is going to suddenly swerve from the present pattern of mixed public and private ownership. It does suggest that Canadian political parties will continue to veer leftward.

In the Liberal party especially, a struggle is going on as to whether the government will swing to the left with more and faster social welfare legislation, or attempt to stand firmer against such pressures.

The survey on Canada's socialistic inclinations was taken by Elliott Research Corp., one of the country's leading survey firms. It was not, it should be added, one of the polling organizations which was off base in the recent federal election.

According to the survey, the number of persons favoring government ownership of industry has risen from 22.8 per cent. in 1964 to 24.5 per cent. this year. This figure, however, is not any higher than back in 1947. The significant factor appears to be that many persons feared a depression immediately after the war, and looked to government intervention to prevent it. Does that mean fear of a depression is rising again in Canada?

Well, hardly, according to this same survey. The economic boom which Canada has been enjoying the past four years has given rise to general optimism among all sections of the population.

While 28.4 per cent. of those questioned said in 1962 that they thought a depression quite likely, this number dropped to 17.8 per cent. in 1965.

In testing the public's reaction to private enterprise, the survey found that socialistic inclinations were most evident among rural respondents, persons of low income, young voters, and supporters of the New Democratic and Social Credit parties.

It's not surprising that NDP supporters should show such beliefs. It might come as a shock to Premier E. C. Manning and Social Credit leader Bob Thompson, however, that his followers have socialistic inclinations.

The explanation would appear to be that Social Credit, like the CCF and the New Democratic parties, appeals most strongly to the disinherited and the discontent. For all the outspoken support which Socred leaders have given to free enterprise, a good chunk of their voting support has come from people who don't really believe what the leaders have been saying. But they've been voting Socred in protest against the present system.

This is certainly what happened in B.C. back in 1952, when CCF supporters by the thousands switched to the Socred banner.

Canada is the most socialistically inclined state in the western hemisphere outside of Cuba. We have built a mixed economy featuring private ownership of business large and small, alongside government ownership of a wide variety of public utilities, ranging from rail and air lines to insurance companies, chemical plants, mine processing plants, etc. Together with this, there has been an ever-increasing advance in the social welfare fields, with national medicare the latest example.

The fact that rural respondents don't have too much confidence in free enterprise provides a hint to Conservative leader Diefenbaker's strong prairie backing. It is not entirely unfair that Mr. Diefenbaker has been dubbed "the Red Tory."

Most Canadians, of course, still abhor the idea of outright government ownership of all business and industry. Even the NDP has found that government economic policies can exert just as much influence on private companies as if those companies were owned by the government.

ELDORADO AND UNION U.C.W.

The general annual meeting of Eldorado and Union United Church Women was held at Union United Church on the evening of the 24th of November.

The President, Mrs. Gerald Blackburn opened the meeting with the selection, "The Dimension of Direction Forward in Religious Experience," and "How to Raise A Juvenile Delinquent in Twelve Easy Lessons."

Following this Mrs. Blackburn reported briefly on the Rally which was held on October 19th at Hallway.

Mrs. Clayton Blackburn read the minutes.

Reports were given by the various secretaries.

The Correspondence included an announcement of the Annual Presbyterial meeting to be held on January 26th at Bridge Street United Church.

The next general meeting will be held at Eldorado United Church on Wednesday evening, December 8th at 8 p.m.

The roll call will be the Christmas Thankoffering.

The report of the Nominating Committee was presented to Mrs. Clayton Blackburn by Mrs. Harold Chambers.

Officers for the General Group—Past President, Mrs. Gerald Blackburn; President, Mrs. Earl Blakely; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Claude Blakely; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Cyril Shaw; Recording and Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Stanley Franks; Treasurer, Mrs. Floyd Blackburn; Representative to Board of Stewards, Mrs. George Palmer, Mrs. Stanley Sandford; Representative to Official Board, Mrs. Earl Blakely.

Officers of the Afternoon Unit—Leader, Mrs. Cecil Blackburn; Treas., Mrs. C. McIntyre; Secretary, Mrs. Clayton Blackburn; Programme Convener, Mrs. George Palmer; Pianist, Mrs. Hedley Shaw.

Officers for the Evening Unit—Leader, Mrs. Stanley Sandford; Assistant Leader, Mrs. Glen Boyle; Treas., Mrs. Ivan Sine; Secretary, Mrs. Harold Chambers; Programme Convener, Mrs. Gerald Blackburn; Pianist, Mrs. Melvin Johnson.

Standing Committees and Convener—Community Friendship, Visiting and Flowers, Mrs. Cecil Boyle; Co-operation in Christian and Missionary Education, Mrs. Claude Blakely; Finance, Mrs. Stanley Sandford; Literature and Communications, Mrs. George Palmer; Membership, Mrs. Cecil Blackburn; Nominations, Mrs. Harold Chambers; Press and Publicity, Mrs. Dan Robinson; Programmes, Mrs. Gerald Blackburn; Social Function, Mrs. Ivan Sine; Stewardship and Recruiting, Mrs. Cecil Blackburn; Supply and Social Assistance, Mrs. Leonard Blackburn; Organist, Mrs. Melvin Johnson; Assistant Organist, Mrs. Claude Blakely; Auditors, Mrs. Frank Palmer, Mrs. Harley Blackburn.

The worship service was conducted by Mrs. Gerald Blackburn, who chose to have appropriate hymn singing for the entire service.

The speaker, Rev. David Potter, speaking on family life, chose the topic "The Family and the Kingdom." Mr. Potter stressed the importance of good family relationships early in a child's life. The child learns about God from the parents, not only by observing what the parent says but also by observing what the parent does, Mr. Potter said.

Mr. Potter recommended the Christian Home Magazine to enlist the family to work for the Kingdom. Mr. Potter closed the meeting with prayer.

CWL SPONSORS FIRST ANNUAL TEA AND BAZAAR

Madoc Catholic Women's League held a successful tea and bazaar in Sacred Heart Parish Hall last Wednesday afternoon. Receiving the guests at the main door was the president of the League Council, Mrs. Joseph Foley, assisted by the past president, Mrs. Francis Tobin.

There were many tables, which included the home bake table, with Mrs. Joseph Kehoe, Mrs. Fred Bosley, Mrs. Stewart Roy and Mrs. Wilfrid Forestell in charge.

The fancy work booth had many colourful aprons, embroidery, cushions, knitted novelties, socks and numerous knitted items. Convener was Mrs. Charles Stoklosar, Mrs. Philip Rivers with Mrs. Frank Barry, Mrs. Fred Cassidy and Mrs. Snider as assistants.

The touch and take table was in charge of Mrs. Leo Webb.

Convener for the tea room was Mrs. John Livingstone. The centre table was covered with an ecru cloth, centred with a display of gold, bronze and yellow 'mums, and yellow candles in lacy collared tri-branch silver candelabra. Silver services completed the setting.

Those pouring tea from the other churches were Mrs. James Pitts and Miss Lamoine West from St. Peter's Presbyterian, Mrs. Perry Brownson, representing the United Church and Mrs. Laverne Carman of St. John the Baptist Anglican Church. These ladies were assisted by Mrs. James Cox, Mrs. Fred Stewart, Miss Olive O'Riordan, Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. T. H. Rupert, Mrs. Wilfrid Forestell and Mrs. Thomas Kelly of Stoco, the Diocesan president of the CWL.

Ladies in charge of preparing tea were Mrs. Catherine Mahoney and Mrs. Bryne.

The quartet guest tables were covered with white luncheon cloths and centred with glass containers holding gold and yellow 'mums.

The doll table with various wardrobe apparel was in charge of Mrs. W. M. Mahoney. The candy table and flower table was looked after by Mrs. Thomas Lindale and Mrs. John Lindale. Mrs. Don Forestell was in charge of the sale of Christmas cards and jewellery.

Mr. Robert O'Riordan Sr. sold tickets on a patch work quilt which was later won by Mrs. Wilfrid Forestell. Mrs. Charles Stoklosar donated a dressed doll and high chair which was won by Charles Mahoney of Madoc. The drawing for the cash awards and other prizes took place with Rev. Father F. J.

BETHESDA U. C. W.

The Bethesda United Church Women held their December meeting in the basement of the church and opened with the President Mrs. Vada Downey reading a poem. The theme song was sung and the theme prayer repeated. Roll call was answered with the exchange of Christmas gifts. There were 18 members and three children present.

There had been a number of sick calls made.

Worship was given by Mrs. Illa Mullett, the theme being on Christmas. Hymn 58 was sung and music played by Mrs. Marjorie Holland.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. Isabelle Wickens, St. Luke 2 1-20 and O'Neill announcing the winners. They were Miss Elizabeth James of Actinolite, Mrs. Melville Schultz of Madoc, and Mrs. Ted Meraw. The three-tier iced Christmas cake was won by Mrs. Thomas Kelly of Stoco and the ten pound cheese went to Mr. Tom Campbell of Kingston.

This was the first event in the new Sacred Heart Parish Hall.

St. John 1 1-14. Hymn 59 was sung. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Vera Francis. There was a lengthy report on business. Mrs. Ida Wickens gave the treasurer's report.

The programme was given by Mrs. Eva Yarrow who held a contest on nursery rhymes. Mrs. Illa Mullett was the winner.

There was an election of officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Alice Wood; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Isabelle Wickens; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Vera Francis; Treasurer, Mrs. Marjorie Holland; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Eileen Holland; Secretary, Mrs. Norma MacMillan; Sick Committee, Mrs. Vera Francis, Miss Ruby Holland, Mrs. Ethel Francis, Mrs. Mary Fleming, Mrs. Illa Mullett, Mrs. Isabelle Wickens, Mrs. Alice Wood, Mrs. Norma MacMillan; Quilt Convener, Mrs. Irene Ashe; Press Secretary, Mrs. Jean Aylesworth.

The meeting closed with prayer and a social half hour was spent in decorating a Christmas tree for the Sunday School.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Ida Wickens, Mrs. Illa Mullett, Mrs. Ruby Francis and Mrs. Eva Yarrow.

We Had A Wing-Ding

Boy, there's nothing like a week end in the city to relax you. Every so often, rigid with the tension of smalltown living, my family and I tear up the budget, fling it and caution to the winds, and have a wing-ding.

At least, last week end, we had a good excuse for a wing-ding. Our baby, the brown-eyed butterball whose diapers we'd changed with delight, the little boy we'd taught to swim and skate, was playing the lead role in his college musical.

Everything, as usual with a Smiley family wing-ding, went according to plan. We get our plans from the chap who used to write the sketches for The Three Stooges.

Night before, had a small party. Next morning, both alarm clocks didn't go off, as they always don't do in such cases. Half an hour late, picked up our passenger, a nun (don't ask me to go into all this), and took off.

I was glad I'd practised low-flying in the air force. The two hour trip to the city took one hour and 22 minutes. There were almost 3 minutes of that (I kept count) in which Sister St. Bonaventure and my wife were not talking. Excitedly.

Checked in at the hotel. The girls went in all directions. I tried a combination of coffee, morning papers, and hair of the dog, which tasted rather strongly of wing-ding. Boiled wing-ding.

Before I'd even begun to wish I were home, the family was there: old woman eager to talk to kids; Kim, full of ideas about things we hadn't time or money for; Hugh, bright-eyed, bushy-tailed, and broke.

Lunch. For four, $12.50. Had promised Kim she could buy a guitar with the money she'd earned playing organ at church. Went to music store. Went through half-hour of 70 adolescents playing 70 musical instruments, simultaneously.

Visit to one of those wild record stores, to pick up a Bob Dylan record and the latest Rolling Stones (more organ money). I stood outside and watched the birds go in. Wished I were a hood and had no family.

Scramble back to hotel. All hands try guitar. Fix up faces. Rush by cab to buy roses for leading lady. Leading man broke, still.

Fly to theatre. Thrill to brown-eyed butterball (see above) singing, dancing without disgracing family. Trotter back to hotel (brown-eyes off to post-production party which lasted until dawn.)

Try to convince Kim (14 and with first eye-shadow on) that it's bedtime, not coffee-house, folk-singing time. Succeed by falling asleep in middle of speech. Wake up to chaps watching late movie. Order tea all round. At 40 cents a tea-bag.

Can't sleep with traffic outside banging, crashing, screeching, hooting, and drunks next door laughing, singing, shouting.

Four-thirty a.m., the old woman smells smoke. Snarl at her. Seven a.m. she wakes me, triumphantly. Below is the fire truck. Outside our door are six firemen. Seems there was a blaze in next room, where the drunks were. Try to sleep.

Seven-fifty a.m. Kim wants action. A walk, breakfast, anything. Snarl at her. Nine a.m., church tower across street begins banging bell. Snarl at organized religion.

Old Battleaxe can't sleep. At 9.30, have to give learned, literary criticism of kid's performance of previous evening. At 10.30, Kim starts binding about going to a movie. At noon, the star turns up hungry, broke.

I suggested cheap lunch and home. Voted. Everyone wants Chinese, food. Swinging Chinese dinner at four p.m., Sunday afternoon. Try it: $12.00. Check out. Leave son looking lonely. Momma cries. Dad drives 100 miles home through the light-glare of 7,000 drunken deer-hunters heading back to city.

Everyone sleeps on way home. Dad wheels into garage, leaps out, kisses floor of garage. Nothing like a wing-ding in the city to get you away from smalltown nerves.

QUEENSBORO U.C.W.

The general meeting of the Queensboro United Church Women was held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday evening, November 24th. As it was the last meeting of the year they had a pot luck supper with Group 2 as hostesses. There were 18 members and three visitors present.

After a tasty supper the meeting was called to order. Mrs. Harry DeClair as president opened the meeting.

Mrs. C. A. McMurray was secretary. The devotional part was taken by Mrs. W. Sedgwick. Mrs. Kenneth Sexsmith read the story of the rich man and the beggar and a record was played to show how this story might apply to modern times. This record was composed by Dr. C. Jordan.

Rev. W. Sedgwick was the guest speaker and he chose as his subject the possible union of the Anglican

ST. JOHN'S W.A.

The annual Women's Auxiliary Corporate Holy Communion service was observed in the Anglican Church on St. Andrew's Day with 13 members present. Rev. J. H. Thompson conducted the service.

Following the celebration, the monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary branch was held in the Rectory. Business centred around discussion of the annual W.A. and Church Guild Christmas party to be held next Tuesday in the parish hall.

The sale of church calendars and the menu and program were arranged. Christmas cards has gone well again this year, all 50 calendars having been sold throughout the parish. While coffee was served, a surprise shower was held for a member, Mrs. Ann Allt, who was recently married.

and United Church which was most interesting.

COOPER AND REMINGTON W.I.

The regular meeting of Cooper & Remington W.I. met at Cooper Community Centre on November 17th. The meeting opened with the Ode, followed by the Mary Stewart Collect.

The roll call which was "Wear an article of clothing, 25 years old, more or less," was taken showing an attendance of fifteen members wearing old capes and bonnets, scarves, beads and dresses.

The president, Mrs. C. Bailey conducted the business period and plans were made for some of the members to go to the area convention in Belleville.

Mrs. W. Rollins took charge of the program in the absence of Mrs. Geo. Graham, the convener for Historical Research. Mrs. Rex Rollins gave a paper on the history of cotton. Mrs. W. Rollins gave a demonstration of the dishes, table setting and menu for Christmas in 1900.

Mrs. S. Rollins prepared the topic on "A wardrobe of a teenager" which was read by Mrs. Rex Rollins.

Mrs. C. Fitzgerald won a prize for the largest onion.

The meeting closed with God Save the Queen. Lunch was served.

COUNTY COUNCIL HEARS REPORTS FROM SEVERAL COMMITTEES

Hastings county council convened Tuesday morning for its fourth and final session of the year.

During the morning session council heard reports from its administration of justice committee; finance and public property committee; publicity committee and a special executive committee on regional planning and other matters of mutual concern of municipalities.

Belleville Major J. R. Ellis, returned Monday for a two-year term, spoke briefly at the session pledging his continued co-operation with the county.

Bancroft Deputy Reeve Mrs. Audrey Sexsmith reported on the proposed county history which is to be published as a centennial project. Cost of the publication is expected to be about $10,000 with two thirds of this to be collected through the centennial grant program.

About 7,000 of the 300-page county history are expected to be printed, Mrs. Sexsmith said.

Gerald Boyce, Belleville high school teacher who is writing the history, said that about 80 per cent of the written material was now in and about three-quarters of the required pictures had been received.

Municipalities in the county had co-operated remarkably well in getting material in for the publication.

The administration of justice report showed that expenditures for the first nine months of the year had totalled $102,861 as compared with $99,647 for the same period last year. Net costs were $92,282 of which the county had paid $47,728, Belleville $30,841 and Trenton $13,712.

County members concurred in an Essex county resolution asking that better inspection of amusement rides at fairs and carnivals be made and also that adequate insurance be carried by the operators.

In the future the county will be billed by the Belleville General Hospital for each autopsy conducted by the hospital pathologist. A communication from the hospital indicated that as of October 1st this year a charge of $25 for each autopsy would be made. About 70 county autopsies are conducted annually, it was stated.

And despite objections from certain northern municipalities, it appears that the Lands and Forests fire ranger sub station at Gilmour will be permanently closed and the buildings offered for sale.

A letter from the Lands and Forests department said that the closing of the station would not result in less fire protection and that a high service would still be maintained.

But Tudor Reeve Verse McMurray said that timber management was not the only phase of sub-station operation to be affected.

He said closing of the station would mean that trappers would have to travel to Bancroft to have beaver and other wild animals tagged.

And it seems that automation is also taking over from the human fire spotters.

Reeve McMurray said mechanical smoke spotters were being introduced to spot fires.

The mechanical fire spotters were efficient and in a test had spotted a distant bonfire which could not be detected by the human spotter.

The only trouble was that the mechanical spotters so far were just too efficient — they also picked up the heat of the sun shining on a metal barn roof.

But Reeve William O'Brien of Wollaston didn't agree that the Department of Lands and Forests were maintaining the highest possible degree of fire protection.

He said the department was depending more and more on the local municipalities to do fire fighting.

Deloro Reeve Tom Armstrong appealed for something to be done to save the small local libraries from extinction. He said they were being squeezed by ever smaller grants with result it was getting increasingly difficult for them to operate.

TWO FINED FOR POLLUTION

Helmut Matthiss and John Krauter, two Cobourg area businessmen, were fined $250 each and costs Monday on charges of causing water pollution.

Matthiss, president of Matspeck Construction Co. Ltd., and Krauter, manager of a farmer owned by the company, were charged by the Ontario Water Resources Commission after an investigation showed that silage from the farm was polluting a tributary of Cobourg Brook north of Cobourg.

The Ontario Safety League says that Czechoslovakia reports a 25% drop in accidents since it made seat or breath tests compulsory in cases of suspected impairment. The courts may fine and revoke licences of drivers who refuse tests.

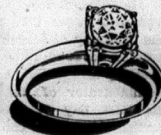

BARGAIN HUNTING. In most parts of Canada the season for farm auction sales is drawing to a close, but a few bargains can still be found. This farmer reads some posters pinned on a barn, looking for buys in livestock and farm machinery.

WEDDING

NORMAN — PERRIE

A quiet wedding took place in St. John the Baptist Anglican Church on Saturday, November 27th when Gail Frances Perrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Perrie of Madoc, was united in marriage to William John Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Norman of Millbridge. The maid of honour was Miss Lorraine M. Triggs while the groomsmen were Mr. Elmer W. Trotter of Cooper.

Rev. James H. Thompson officiated at the ceremony.

A reception was held in the bride's home following the service.

The couple will reside in Madoc.

A miscellaneous shower was held for them prior to the wedding in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McQuigge.

A 70-pound wolf was shot and killed recently about one mile north of Foxboro.

Elmer Ogden, of Mudcat Lane, was out walking his dog when three wolves appeared on the road ahead of him. He shot the one with his shot-gun and the other two ran away.

It was the third wolf known to be killed near Foxboro this year.

FOOTWEAR READY-TO-WEAR

OUR HIGH SCHOOL

For the past two weeks while exams were being written and marked, we went underground. Now that they are completed we can come up for air, so to speak. The marks are being carefully considered and assessed and the reports will be ready within the next few days. We are glad to see that in many cases, the marks show an improvement since the October reports. In other cases, alas, they are not so good. Best do something at once, while the School Year is still young!

We have been having quite a session with "flu and mumps and what-have-you, with several absentees, both in the Staff and in the student body. Mrs. Dorothy Empey, a patient in the Belleville Hospital, is getting along well, we hear. Mrs. Tom Forestell, we are sorry to say, entered the hospital Monday night.

Our congratulations to Capt. Owen Weaver on his promotion to Major in the Cadet Corps, effective September 1st of this year. Mr. Markewitz of C.G.E. Peterboro, is again with us this week as drafting instructor. We also welcome Mrs. Miriam Atkinson, who is supplying for Mrs. Dorothy Empey.

C.H.S.S. had another "first time" on Tuesday evening when it was host to the annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte COSSA. About fifty teachers attended. The President, Mr. Charles Lynch, of Campbellford, chaired the joint meeting at which the events of the fall were reviewed and the programme of events for the winter season was planned. The Women Teachers' Section was chaired by the Vice-president, Mrs. Grace McKeown of Stirling. A substantial lunch, supervised by Miss West, was served in the cafeteria by Vicki McNab, Sharon Smith and Karen Reid.

Last Friday there were two all-day tours from the school - to Hamilton and to Kingston. Mr. Kinach organized the trip to Hamilton to enable his students to see at first-hand the physics and chemistry involved in large manufacturing plants. Gordon Jackson has given us the following account. Thirty-two students accompanied by Mr. Cox, Mr. Graham and Mr. Kinach left Madoc by bus at 6 a.m. and several more students were picked up as we proceeded south to Belleville. We reached Hamilton at 10 a.m. and here we had a conducted tour of Proctor and Gamble which was very interesting. These people are the makers of detergents, soaps and cooking oils. When one tours this plant he is amazed at how very little is done by manual labour. Practically everything is done by the use of machines and is fully automated.

At about 11:30 a.m. the tour was completed and everyone was given free time for lunch with definite orders to be back at the bus by 1 o'clock.

The next place we visited was the Stelco Steel Plant which is the largest in Canada, comprising a total area of 865 acres. The plant is equipped with its own fire and police department. The plant is 92% Canadian and 8% American. Safety glasses were provided and had to be worn at all times during the tour due to the dust particles and impurities in the air. On one section of the plant we observed molten steel being poured into the open hearth furnace and at all times the constant noise proved almost deafening. The plant being so large, it was impossible to see it all in one afternoon so we were simply taken to places where it was most interesting. The Stelco Plant supplies all of the steel in this particular section of Canada. The tour lasted until approximately 4:00 p.m. at which time we once again loaded the bus and headed eastward for home. We stopped once again at another Service Centre to eat and relax.

We finally arrived at the school at 9:00 p.m. and I'm sure everyone would agree that it was an interesting and worthwhile trip.

The other bus trip was to REME at Barrfield, Kingston and here is Wayne Bailey to tell the story. "At 8:30 a.m. an army bus left CHHS with a load of cadets to tour the Royal Canadian Army Electrical Mechanical Engineers' School in Kingston. Upon arrival we were greeted by Lt. Col. Jones and briefed on the day's events. Then we were divided into two syndicates, one of which toured the Electronics Company and the other visited the Vehicle Company and Armaments. These visits were interchanged in the afternoon.

At 12:00 hours (or noon) we ate a wonderful lunch in the Men's Mess. Our supervisor, Mr. Fawcett and Lieut. John Blue were invited to eat in the Officers' Mess.

At Vehicles Company all the cadets had a ride in a Personnel Carrier which was a real thrill. About fourteen passengers are completely enclosed in armament and sit in darkness, while the driver's seat is on a sort of telescope enabling him to see. At Armaments all the latest artillery was on display, ranging from light pistols to fifty-ton tanks. At Electronics everyone had a chance to speak on a two-way radio. At 3:30 we were transported by bus to the gymnasium where most of us enjoyed a dip in the Olympic-sized pool. From here we returned to the Men's Mess and a marvellous supper; then home by seven o'clock after an enjoyable and educational day."

Mr. Weaver tells us that this trip was a reward for the winning platoon in the spring inspection and for any cadets who have performed outstanding work this fall, such as Remembrance Day Parade and Commencement.

Lloyd Keller reports that the Senior Boys' Volleyball team from Madoc competed in a tournament held in O.S.D. on Saturday. The seniors got off to a slow start as they were swamped by Stouffville by a score of 15 to 2. In the second game the seniors came back to defeat St. Benedicts by 15 to 2. The seniors won their second game in a row by downing Ernestown 15 to 3. Then they ran into a very good team from West Elgin and were trounced by 15 to 1. In their final game they defeated South Peel by a score of 15 to 6. The boys ended the day with 3 wins and 2 losses which was good enough to place them 4th out of the eleven teams which participated. The members of the team were: Bill Adams - Captain, Daryl Kamp, Harold Bailey, John Livingston, Richard MacKenzie and Lloyd Keller.

CARDS OF THANKS

Season's Greetings and my sincere thanks to all whose support I received in my election as Councillor on December 6th.

Ross Sprackett.

I would like to thank most sincerely my friends, neighbours and relatives for cards, treats and calls while I was a patient in Belleville General Hospital, also to Doctors Allen and Barry, Dr. Douglas and Dr. R. Bateman, and to all the nurses on First West.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Wm. Downey, Crookston.

We would like to express our sincere thanks to the Crookston Community for the lovely cabinet. A special thanks for those responsible for collecting and purchasing the gift.

Sincerely,
Ron and Jean Hurley.

DEAR DORIS

advice from

To Spare The Rod

DEAR DORIS — I worry about the way my daughter and son-in-law discipline their children. They have been spanked since babies. (I have seen their nappies removed to spank them, and I'm sure they didn't know why, as the little girl was only 10 months old at the time.) The little girl seems to be very belligerent when corrected now; seems as if she was on the defensive.

Her mother was ill when she was two and I had to care for them both, and I say in truth I could do more with her than either of the parents. One night her Daddy came in, and when she stood up in her crib, he spanked her. She cried for a while, then in about 15 minutes stood up again.

I went to her and said, "Darling, you know you don't get up when grandma puts you to bed; now kiss me goodnight and lie down, dear." She put her arms around my neck and kissed me and I put her in bed and there was not another sound out of her. Her Dad looked quite surprised, but said nothing.

Doris, I feel my daughter and son-in-law are taking their own frustrations out on little children.

Upset

DEAR UPSET — It upsets me too. Babies need to know they are loved. Perhaps these little ones only get attention when they are bad.

Punishment must be replaced by praise, anger by loving affection and encouragement. Or, as one little girl put it — "I'll just be badder!"

The situation will worsen and the children suffer lasting damage, psychologically, unless the parents seek the expert help which is there for them, in books, government pamphlets and personal consultation, before it is too late.

DEAR DORIS — I have decided to be an air stewardess, but don't know if I would qualify. What do they ask for, in schooling, and age and height? What do you do, exactly?

SIXTEEN — It's a great job for a girl who likes people and wants to get around. And the training you get will help you all your life.

Most airlines require graduation from high school. You can't be too short nor too tall; nor too fat. Usual age for starting is between 20 and 26.

A stewardess is hostess to passengers in flight. She serves meals and snacks, and does many small services. Knows something about air routes and flight operations. She receives training in all these areas before being put on her own.

DEAR DORIS — One day when I was shopping downtown I noticed a man was following me everywhere I went. I finally lost him by mixing in a crowd.

Last week I saw him again, and he followed me for 15 minutes. I didn't panic and I pretended to be unaware of his presence. I entered another store, then left by the back door and he lost track of me.

Maybe he takes me for someone else. Anyway, I'm thoroughly frightened now. Do you think it would be wise to lead him to the police station?

Panicky

DEAR PANICKY — Can't say I blame you. It would give anybody the creeps. The police station is the very place to lead him to — if he'll go. In any case, you should report it; and seeing you go in there may scare him off.

Confidential to Jilted — He must feel terribly inadequate. Can you imagine what a blow it would be to be told you have a weak heart? Yet if he gave you this reason, he might think you would protest that you wanted him in spite of his poor health — and that you would be doing this out of pity.

Bide your time. If he is right for you, he'll be back. You are still a little young to be making a choice for life.

REMINISCING

Taken from the Review files of 56, 55 and 15 years ago.

50 YEARS AGO
December 2, 1915

Men, whose age and circumstances and especially those whose previous training permit to enlist but are afraid to do so, do you know that it has been suggested that the Government fit you out with yellow petticoats as the most suitable color and the most distinctive garment for men of your class. The Review would not like to see our stay-at-homes thus adorned and would advise you to get into that, at the present time, most appropriate of all costumes, the khaki coloured uniform.

The anniversary services of the Madoc Methodist Church was held on Sunday last. Mr. Goings of Lindsay occupied the pulpit. The free will offering on Sunday amounted to $200 and the amount realized from the Annual Supper Monday night totalled $67.

The County Council of Hastings opened its closing session of the year at Shire Hall, Belleville. This is considerably earlier than usual but certain business demands that the session open early.

Fred Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Miller of town has enlisted with the 80th Battalion at Belleville.

Eldorado — Several of our valuable horses have been subject to special attention from a colored veterinarian who came up from Madoc a few days ago. He comes from Dr. Bell's College, Kingston, and judging from the way he manipulates his work is well versed in his business.

The Rev. Irl R. Hicks' 1916 Almanac is by far the finest, largest and best ever before printed. The Hicks storm and weather forecasts for 1915 have proven their faith and value and this splendid Almanac for 1916 should find its way straight into every home and office in America.

25 YEARS AGO
December 5, 1940

In a cold, biting wind, in the worst blizzard that has struck this district in many months, soldiers of the Headquarters Co. of the Hastings & Prince Edward Regiment, Second Battalion, lined up on the shores of the Bay of Quinte to witness the dedication and presentation of the new Indian mascot to the First Battalion now serving overseas. Lt. Col. B. C. Donnan, E.D., made the presentation of the mascot to Lt. Col. A. V. Yates, M.C., Hon. Lieut. of the First Battalion. The scene was laid on the shores of the Bay of Quinte near the mouth of the Trent River where the Chief's ancestors had often sat around their pow-wow fires in years gone by. The ranks stood as rigid as the Chief himself, their faces lighted by the signal flares. In the background the drums beat out the insistent call of the Spirit Tribes to war. The bugle sounds and the troops snap to the "present arms," Lt. Col. Donnan salutes and hands the Chief-tan to Lt. Col. Yates. Today the mascot is lashed to the deck of a destroyer on its way overseas where it will take the place of "Little Chief" who now lies buried "somewhere in France."

On Monday, Mr. and Mrs. George Duffin, one of Stirling's popular young couples moved to Madoc where Mr. Duffin has acquired an interest in a furniture and undertaking business. Prior to their departure they were honoured by the members of the Stirling Badminton Club. At a social evening in the High School Miss G. Poynter presented the couple with an illuminated address and an electric clock on behalf of the members. Mr. and Mrs. Duffin were highly popular in Stirling and a host of friends while regretting their departure wish them every success in their new home. — Stirling News-Argus.

A pleasant surprise was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Foster Keene, Madoc, on Saturday, November 30th on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary when relatives and friends gathered at their home. Those present were Mrs. Lillian Bacon, sister of the groom, Mr. Chas. and Miss Alma Keene and Mr. and Mrs. John Keene, Madoc, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wood and Irene of Stirling, and their three daughters, Mrs. R. DeMille, Misses Beulah and Lorna Keene and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Moorcroft.

COOPER U.C.W.

The regular meeting of Cooper U.C.W. was held Wednesday afternoon, December 1st at the home of Mrs. Rex Rollins with a good attendance. The President Mrs. W. Matthews, Jr., opened the meeting with the Meditation followed with prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Correspondence was dealt with.

Reports of the year's work were given which showed a busy, successful year, both socially and financially.

Mrs. Fred Moorcroft had charge of the Christmas service. She used a leaflet, "A Service of Worship." Hymn 51, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung. The first Scripture, Luke 2, verses 1 to 11 was read by Mrs. F. Bailey. Hymn 59, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" two verses, was sung. The second Scripture, Matthew 2, verses 1 to 11 was read by Mrs. Rex Rollins. Two hymns, "We Three Kings Of Orient Are" and Hymn 57, "Gentle Mary Laid Her Child" were sung. Mrs. W. Rollins gave a reading, "Home to Gallilee." Hymn 488, "Come let us sing of a wonderful love," was sung followed with prayer.

Mrs. Fox, chairman for the nominating committee, gave her report and Rev. Sedgwick installed the officers for the coming year, which resulted as follows for 1966—

Past Pres., Mrs. Wm. Matthews, Jr.; President, Mrs. Fred Bailey; Vice-Pres., Mrs. Will Rollins; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Maurice Reynolds; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Claude Keene; Treasurer, Mrs. Rex Rollins; Community Friendship and Visiting, Mrs. Herb Brady, Mrs. Carl Fitzgerald; Co-operation in Christian and Missionary Education, Mrs. Gordon Holmes; Stewardship and Recruiting, Miss Mary Taylor; Literature and Communications, Mrs. A. Parks; Citizenship and Social Action, Mrs. Dennis Chapman; Supply and Wel-

Pres., Clarence Farrow; Secretary, Percy Gunn; Treas., Tom Rupert.

There was a large attendance on Tuesday evening for the December meeting of the Madoc Public School Parent-Teacher Association. The President, Mrs. Rupert opened the meeting with "God Save the King" and the reading of the Creed and Code of Ethics. Mr. George Duffin was called upon to introduce the guest speaker, Rev. Gordon MacKenzie of Queensboro, who chose as his subject "Goodwill in Education." Mrs. Baker, on behalf of those present thanked the speaker. A musical program followed under the leadership of Mr. Rothwell.

The good people of Ivanhoe extended a warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wood and Mr. Percy Wood who have recently settled in their new home. The house was built one hundred years ago by Mr. Wm. Mitts and was purchased from Mr. John Clements. Here the first rural Public Library in the County was kept with Hattie Fleming Clements as librarian.

SCIENTISTS SOLVE PROBLEM OF FADED FLAGS

Scientists have solved the problem of Canada's red maple leaf flags turning orange but fading flags still will be around for a while.

"You can't expect manufacturers to throw away their stocks," said are, Mrs. Frank Reynolds; Leadership Development, Mrs. Frank Parks; Programme, Mrs. Allan McCoy; Finance Committee, Mrs. Fred Moorcroft, Mrs. Christie Bailey; Official Board Representative, Mrs. Fred Bailey; Board of Steward Representative, Mrs. Rex Rollins; Manse Conventer, Mrs. Wm. Matthews; Social Functions, Mrs. George Graham; Nominating Committee, Mrs. Carl Fitzgerald, Mrs. Leonard Graham, Mrs. Margaret Fox; Pianist, Mrs. Wm. Matthews; Assistant Pianist, Mrs. Will Rollins; Auditors, Mrs. Stan Rollins, Miss Bertha Moorcroft.

Rev. Sedgwick read a Scripture lesson and spoke a few words to those present. He welcomed the new President, Mrs. F. Bailey.

Mrs. Matthews expressed her thanks to the members for their help during her term of office.

Rev. Sedgwick closed the meeting with prayer and all repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. Chapman on Wednesday, January 5th.

Mrs. Rollins and her assistants served a dainty lunch.

Dr. Gunter Wyszecki, a National Research Council expert who went to work on the problem last June.

The colour problem was not peculiar to the maple leaf flag, he said, but a problem common to flags of all nations.

The 40-year-old native of Germany, who is satisfied the basic problem is solved, said an interview:

It was just a case of selecting a standard colour scale for the flags, and using a colour-fast dye that would not fade."

The colour selection problem was not as simple as it might appear. The international commission on illumination, which uses a three-number code to identify all colours, lists about 500,000 different shades of red.

The specifications Dr. Wyszecki has been working on list two red shades and samples will be sent to manufacturers. They just have to keep their reds within this range.

There are 10 different reds visible to the human eye in the specification range, but the variations are too small to be noticed on different flags flying side by side.

Dr. Wyszecki said part of the original colour problem was a faded sample of red material sent to the manufacturers when the flag was adopted last year.

The flag committee's decision called for a "Red Ensign red," he said, "and I think he sent a Red Ensign that was off shade—it was on the orange side."

ROLLER SKIS. Sidewalk surfing was a big hit with kids throughout Canada during the summer, but in Europe a similar craze is now catching on with adults. It's roller skiing, and these wheeled skis, produced in Czechoslovakia, are especially proving popular with avid skiers, to keep in shape even when there's no snow on the ground.

SUSANNA'S FAMILY FARE

tips n' topics

Blotters For Christmas

DEAR SUSANNA: Last December the wives in our couples' club prepared supper for our 40 members in the church basement. We needed a fresh table decoration idea but felt we didn't want to become involved in anything complicated, frivolous or expensive. One of the girls came up with a plan that was new to us and the tables turned out beautifully.

To give the occasion a seasonal party touch, and to brighten up the drab surroundings, she had us each cut out a pair of lovely Christmas-red place mats. These were made from, of all things, heavy blotting paper.

We arranged to use the old white table cloths as usual, but they only served as a background against which the pretty mats were displayed. It was like child's play making them. However, they certainly brought out the oohs and aahs by the score when the places were set.

One sheet of 12" x 18" blotting paper makes two mats. Simply cut the paper in half and scallop the edges. For decorations we all shared a box of colored sequins and a package of colored binder size paper. Using our imagination or some pictures from magazines as guides, we cut out green Christmas trees, pert, beige reindeer heads and white, bearded Santas (each one only about two inches tall), and glued them in place — two on each mat but in opposite corners.

The sequins were used for decorative touches. Some on the Christmas trees as bulbs, one as a nose for a reindeer, as eyes for Santa or a few sprinkled here and there just for fun.

All in all our evening was a successful and happy one. The mats that were still fresh were given to one of our children's to take home and use as tray covers. This girl's invalid mother was delighted that we thought of her, and wrote us all a note saying how much these covers brightened up her meals and cheered her up during the holiday season.

Mrs. G. G. Browly

DEAR SUSANNA: Did you know that if a child's rubber bouncing ball (one filled with air) is left on a concrete floor — such as in the basement — it will soon lose its bounce?

Mrs. J. Dickey

DEAR SUSANNA: Our favorite Saturday lunch is fruit salad, beverage, and individual meat or chicken pies (supermarket variety). Since everyone looks forward to this same simple fare each week, why should I fight it?

In the meantime, we have collected a quantity of shiny foil meat pie containers, and wondered for a while what to do with them — but now we've found a great answer.

Punch out a hole in the middle, and place one in between each bulb on your string of Christmas tree lights. Remove the bulb first, fit the pie plate over the socket and replace the bulb. These silvery dishes make fabulous reflectors. If they are not fancy enough for your taste just as they are, then go ahead and crimp the edges with a nut cracker or pair of pliers — or even make a fringe by cutting the edges with a pair of scissors.

OBITUARY

ERNEST KING DEVOLIN (R.R. 3, Madoc)

Life resident of the Madoc township district, Mr. Ernest King Devolin, R.R. 3, Madoc, died suddenly Wednesday, December 1, 1965, at Belleville General Hospital. He was 57.

Born in Madoc township, he was the son of Robert Devolin of Belleville and the late Mrs. Devolin.

He was a farmer and was popular and well respected in the area.

He is survived by his wife, the former Mabel Burris, four daughters, Mrs. D. (Margaret) Chapman, of Cooper, Mrs. J. (Betty) McMurray of Tweed, and Mrs. D. (Carol) Holland and Mrs. D. (Dorothy) McMaster, both of Belleville, and five sons, James of Queensboro, Robert and Ronald, R.R. 3, Madoc; John of Madoc, and Keith of Peterborough.

Also surviving are six brothers, Robert of Madoc, Thomas of Marmora, George of Madoc, Gordon of Belleville, Raymond of Marmora, and Grant of Belleville, and one sister, Mrs. G. (Alice) Derry of Marmora, and 23 grandchildren. One brother and one sister predeceased him.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, December 4th from the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, to Trinity United Church where service was conducted by Rev. W. M. Sedgwick and Rev. D. W. Potter. The many relatives and friends in attendance and the profusion of beautiful floral tributes attested to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Bearers were: Gordon Pigden, William Bateman, Gordon Lebow, Allan Franks, Cecil Woods and Ed Sexsmith.

Interment took place in Lakeview Cemetery.

JAMES NEIL BENNY (R.R. 1, Crookston)

Resident of the Crookston area for the past 20 years, but a native of the Cloyne area where he was born 85 years ago, Mr. James Neil Benny died Thursday, December 2, 1965, in Belleville General Hospital. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Benny.

A retired CPR section foreman, Mr. Benny was a member of Bethesda United Church and was a former elder of that church. He was a member of Marmora No. 222 A.F. and A.M., having received his 50-year jewel in the lodge in 1957. He was of a cheerful disposition and was highly regarded in the area.

He is survived by his wife, the former Rose Hammond, two daughters, Mrs. E. (Ula) Backus of Toronto, and Mrs. E. A. (Hilda) Rhodes of Ottawa, and a son, Earl R. Benny of Toronto. Also surviving are two grandchildren and a brother, William Benny of Wowato, Sask.

The funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, December 4th with service conducted in the MacKenzie Funeral Home by Rev. W. H. Stobart. Many sorrowing relatives and friends paid final tribute.

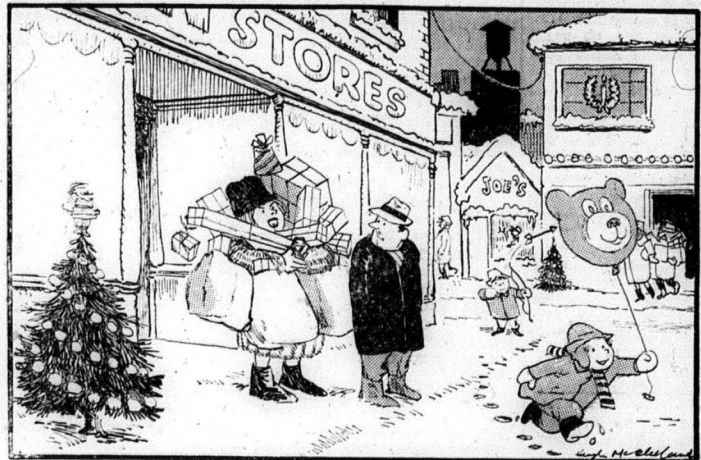

A Masonic Memorial service was held in the Funeral Home on Friday evening and was under the direction of Marmora Lodge No. 222.

Bearers were: Harold Nayler, Hogarth Sabine, Harry Loveless, Bruce White, Gerald Adams and Charles Derry.

Interment took place in Northbrook Cemetery.

WILSON'S WORRIES. A worried-looking British Prime Minister, Harold Wilson, left, is driven to the House of Commons, to report on new developments in the Rhodesian situation. Wilson received wide powers to impose economic sanctions on the colony which declared unilateral independence. Wilson will likely discuss Rhodesia, as well as Vietnam, when he meets with President Johnson in Washington Dec. 17.

ANNOUNCE CAR INSURANCE RATES TO RISE 5 PER CENT

Increases in 1966 automobile insurance rates, predicted in recent weeks by company executives were confirmed recently by the All Canada Insurance Federation.

The national average rate will rise 5.6 per cent, the federation said. Prince Edward Island, Western Canada and parts of Ontario came in for the severest increases.

The largest rise in the country will be a 12.5 per cent average in P.E.I. Rates will increase by 12 per cent in Winnipeg, 11 per cent in Vancouver, and 10 per cent in Calgary.

The increase across Ontario will average 5.8 per cent but it will be 12 per cent in Brantford and at the Lakehead, 13 per cent in Niagara Falls, and 14 per cent in Sault Ste. Marie.

Rates will rise by five per cent at Hamilton and Oshawa while Toronto comes in for a four per cent increase and Ottawa and Montreal two per cent.

Quebec's average increase will be 1.5 per cent. The federation said that province escaped a larger increase because of a decline in accidents in the last year.

The federation, representing 200 insurance companies, said more frequent accidents and their higher costs make the rate boosts necessary.

Increases on existing policies will go into effect when they come up for renewal.

FOOTWEAR READY-TO-WEAR

OUR HIGH SCHOOL

Here we come for our last appearance in '65, which has been a very busy and successful year. Our June graduates have scattered far and wide to several Universities, Teachers' Colleges, Hospitals, Offices and industry and our attendance in September was increased by 25%. Some of our classes are filled to the doors and everywhere may be found evidence that we are a larger school than last year.

Last Saturday noon our Cadet Band, numbering twenty-seven, took part in the big Santa Claus Parade in Campbellford. And this was practically in the World Series, for there were thirty large floats and six bands in attendance. Two were from Belleville, and the others from Trenton, Peterboro', Campbellford and Madoc. Our band had the place of honour in front of old Santa himself!

This Saturday at 2 p.m. our Band will escort Santa Claus through town. Parents, be sure to bring your children to see him and to receive the Merchants' gifts of candy and oranges.

Mr. Weaver reports that Bud Edwards has tied for first place in all Canada on Range Firing at 200 and 500 yards in the competitions held at Ipperwash Cadet Camp last summer. Bud is now on the reserve list for the Bisley team, and merits our heartfelt congratulations for his expert firing.

There has been extremely good response to our Campaign for the Sale of Light Bulbs and as a result we hope to have a good donation for the Artificial Ice.

Many of the Staff will be spending the Christmas recess here in Madoc, while others are returning to their homes elsewhere. Mrs. Margaret O'Riordan and the Fawcetts go to Sudbury. Mr. George Super to Kapuskasing. Mrs. Mary Cox to her parents in Schumacher for Christmas and returning to Belleville for New Years with the Cox family. Mr. and Mrs. Cox, by the way, plan to attend the New Years Military Ball at Trenton. The Porters are off to Brantford, the Weavers to Bracebridge and Fort Erie, the Kinachs to Niagara, the Grahams and Flemings to Peterboro', Miss Chaplin to Perth and Miss Adams to Cornwall. Mr. Graves to Saskatchewan, and the Smiths to Connecticut.

Miss West, as President of OSSTF District 23 will be attending the Annual Assembly of the Teachers' Federation in Toronto between Christmas and New Years.

In the New Year our secretary, Miss Lynn Sedore who is moving to Toronto, will be replaced by Mrs. Linda Graham.

Just inside our main entrance doors stands a lovely, fat Christmas tree donated by Mr. McNab and beautifully decorated by the 9G girls.

The Night School had their last class on Tuesday. They will resume work on January 4th. We welcome Mr. Stan Howden of the G.E. Peterborough, as Drafting teacher until the end of this term.

On Tuesday afternoon our girls entertained the girls from O.S.D., Belleville in Exhibition Basketball games and to dinner in the cafeteria served by Mrs. Kincaid (hamburgers, chips and her delicious pie).

In the games the Madoc Seniors were successful with Sandy McCaw the high scorer, 37 - 30 was the final score. In the Junior game the tables were turned when the O.S.D. girls won their match with a 4-point lead (27 - 23).

Reporting on the Boys' Sports, Richard MacKenzie tells us that after the bus ride to Stirling on Thursday the Madoc bantam basketball team quickly dressed and ran through their warm-ups. The game began shortly after four o'clock. Half-time saw the Madoc bantams leading by eight points, but during the second half Madoc started to slack off and lost 30 - 25 to Stirling.

The juniors started their game off with a bang and scored 17 points before Stirling sunk a basket. Bill Blue and Gordie Donaldson were the top scorers. Bill made 18 points and Gordie made 17. Madoc won 43-32.

For the seniors Kramp, Chambers and Jackson were the top scorers. The seniors won their game 60 - 46. On Tuesday the juniors and seniors visited Tweed for two exhibition games. Our seniors won by four points, the score being 34-30, but the

NURSING HOME TO OPEN IN MADOC IN JANUARY

Some weeks ago the residence on East St. Lawrence, vacated by Dr. Mullin, was purchased by Mr. R. P. Kelly of Belleville. Since that time extensive renovations have taken place, making it suitable for a 20-bed nursing home. The general contractor was Rollins Construction Co. of Belleville, and the plumbing and heating contractor, Pigden's Plumbing and Heating of Madoc.

Besides accommodations for patients, the building has an apartment which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, their 5½-year-old daughter and two-year-old son.

The home which is oil heated, has three complete bathrooms, two fire escapes and has been approved by the Ontario Minister of Health.

It is expected to open the home about the middle of January and will cater to elderly patients.

$50.00 REALIZED FROM DANCE AT MILLBRIDGE

In spite of a small crowd the dance was a reasonable financial success with $50.00 being turned in toward the Artificial Ice Fund.

All who attended said that they had a very good time and felt that it was well worth the effort.

A special thanks to Cecil Hagerman, Stan Kleinstaub, Don Sprackett, Gerald Donaldson, Larry Poulin and John Murphy who volunteered to provide the music.

The ladies of Millbridge provided a delicious lunch and Mrs. John Norman who was in charge of the Community Hall did a good job of collecting the money at the door.

LOCAL and PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Petty, of Zephyr Hill, Bermuda, have returned home after spending the past three months visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. James Rose, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gordon and family.

THOSE UNSIGNED LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Once again we are in receipt of an unsigned letter, which the writer wished to have published in the Review. On several occasions we have stated in these columns that it is the policy of this paper, as is the case with most publications, to print only letters which are signed by the writer.

The Review invites letters from its readers but insists that they be signed by the writer in order to be published.

On Wednesday the bantams will meet Quinte of Belleville here in Madoc. The wrestling teams will also meet with Quinte here on Wednesday.

THIS WEEK AND NEXT

On The Right Track

In two of Canada's main fields of transportation — railways and airlines — there was fresh evidence this week that a saw-off is being reached between the Government and the Canadian Pacific Railway to carve up the country's transportation system.

As one Liberal MP succinctly commented recently, "the Canadian Pacific Railway seems to be getting out of the railway business."

The comment came from John Addison of York North, who has been leading a fight for federal government assistance for railway commuting facilities around Toronto.

Mr. Addison's observation might have been partly based on the abolition of the long-standing pool train service which the CPR and the CNR had jointly maintained between Montreal and Toronto.

After the pool service was abolished recently, the government-owned CNR moved swiftly to put into service a gleaming non-stop passenger train — the Rapido — which makes the 335-mile trip from Toronto to Montreal in just under five hours.

The CPR in recent years has been closing many unprofitable passenger runs, as well as scrapping numerous branch lines entirely. The CPR's proposal to eliminate the cross-country Dominion passenger train was not unexpected.

The CNR, on the other hand, has shown a willingness to go into the commuter business, and to upgrade passenger services generally.

Combined with the CPR's expansion into the trucking field, it now appears fairly evident that some kind of a policy exists whereby the CPR will concentrate on freight and express, leaving the hauling of human cargo to the publicly-owned CNR.

And in the air, the government-owned Air Canada has been assured of a near-monopoly as the Canadian carrier across the Atlantic, while the Canadian Pacific Airlines will enjoy a similar status on the Pacific and South American runs.

Such an arrangement probably constitutes the most remarkable example of government and private co-operation between rival organizations in recent Canadian history. If two private companies followed similar policies, they might be hauled before the Justice Department or Combines branch investigators.

At the same time, however, this policy shows no indication of being detrimental to the public interest. It is, in fact, plain common sense for the two big Canadian carriers to amicably push ahead in their own separate spheres.

The country does not have the population to afford an all-out competitive fight between the two big rail and air carriers. The result would be losses by the CNR and Air Canada, which the public would have to pay. And it could mean the bankruptcy of CPA if not of the CPR itself, with the public ending up once again having to bail out a common carrier, as was the case when the CNR was originally formed out of a mixed bag of bankrupt private railways.

However, the CPR could be a little more candid about the situation. When railway board chairman Norris Crump rails against government subsidy of the CNR, he should remember that the CPR came into existence with the outright gift of 25 million acres of land from the government of that day.

A certain American railway used to advertise that a hog could be shipped across the continent without changing cars, but human beings had to — in Chicago. That situation has never really existed to that degree in Canada, although the so-called transcontinental trains will run only from Montreal to Vancouver. Aren't the Maritimes part of this continent?

Railway passenger revenue is rising.

But if the CPR would just as soon get out of the passenger business, the Canadian people deserve to know.

BANCROFT TO BE SITE OF NEW HASTINGS COUNTY HOME

Hastings county will build a 50-bed addition to its present county home on Highway 2, west of Belleville and also will construct a new 100-bed home in the village of Bancroft.

Council members made the decision at Tuesday's session following the report of county home committee Reeve Goldie McInroy of Huntingdon township.

At the same time county councillors voted to sell their county farm west of Belleville an option on which has been taken by the Tatham Company, Belleville land developer.

The option on 118.2 acres of the county farm must be exercised by January 18th and the sale completed by February 15th, 1966.

The purchase price of the farm will be at the rate of $1,000 per acre with $30,000 in cash at the time of the sale and the balance covered by a first mortgage repayable by January 31st, 1968.

Total cost of the new home at Bancroft and of the addition at Belleville was estimated at $1,200,000 — $900,000 for the new home and about $300,000 for the addition, including a chapel.

With a 50 per cent provincial subsidy of $600,000, together with the proceeds from the sale of the farm the net cost to the county would be $475,000.

Councillors were generally agreed that increased accommodation was required for home for the aged residents, but there was some thought Bancroft was not the proper location for the new 100-bed county home.

But county home committee member Calvin White said nearness to a hospital, water and sewage and fire protection were factors in choosing the site.

Another consideration for choosing the north Hastings site was that many elderly people from that section of the county object to entering the county home at Belleville because of the distance they would be from relatives.

He said this was important for elderly people.

Several councillors felt that an additional 150 beds for county home residents was not needed at this time. It was pointed out, however, that the extra accommodation would all be taken up within a few years and in the meantime the county could rent unused beds to the city of Belleville which had a long waiting list for entry to the county home.

Under an existing agreement between the city and the county, Belleville is entitled to two-sevenths of 80 per cent of the present county home accommodation. Under this agreement the city has use of something over 50 beds at the present time.

Belleville, however, will have no share in the new addition at Hastings Manor, it being decided that the county will bear the entire cost.

Tudor Reeve Verse McMurray felt that the decision to go ahead with the building project, council should wait until the sale of the county farm is completed.

However, Thurlow Reeve Clayton Hall said there was little doubt the sale would go through and in any event the farm could be easily sold.

Reeve McMurray's amendment to lay aside the building program until the farm sale was finalized was defeated.

The county will now engage architects to prepare plans for the 50-bed addition to the present home and also for the new 100-bed structure at Bancroft.

COUNTY - CITY HEALTH UNIT APPROVED IN PRINCIPLE

It will possibly be a year before the unit is brought into operation, but formation of a county health unit in conjunction with the city of Belleville was approved in principle last week by Hastings County council.

The vote, 22 to 11, was one of the rare recorded votes taken in the county council body.

Approving formation of the county health unit were T. Armstrong, Fred Beckett, Clayton Brook, Thomas Burnside, J. Bush, J. Caldwell, D. Card, S. J. Carr, Ed Cunningham, G. Groves, Clayton Hall, M. Haman, A. Ketcheson, C. Long, G. McInroy, Don Rodgers, C. McMurray, V. McMurray, Ray Moran, Wm. Shannon, Calvin White, Mrs. A. Sexsmith. Opposing were R. C. Graham, Delbert Harvey, Burton Murton, Wm. O'Brien, F. Peever, C. Thompson, J. Wilkes, M. Irwin, Ernest Kelis, Wm. McCrae and G. Hughes.

The vote on the county health unit was delayed until Thursday following the report, earlier in the session of a special committee.

The committee, headed by Thurlow

A CHILD DREAMS OF CHRISTMAS

A child dreams of Christmas — striped candy canes — mysterious packages hidden away — reindeer landing on a snowy roof — a red felt stocking hung on the mantelpiece — a tree twinkling with magic colours — a midnight sky dancing with stars —

Every child dreams at Christmas time, and as we grow old we cherish the dreams of our childhood as much as the reality of this sacred season. But there are some children who dare not dream of Christmas. They have been hurt and disappointed so much in their short lives, that they are afraid to hope. These are the children of poverty-stricken families, of broken homes, and institutions. Ill, frightened, unhappy children. Must they go without Christmas this year, while others have so much?

Not if The Salvation Army can help it. In countless ways this 100-year-old organization brings the joys of Christmas to children too often forgotten. Small things — a stocking filled with candy canes — a new doll — a warm smile — can make the day glow with happiness for a child. Salvationists not only provide these things, but also work to reunite families, obtain jobs for fathers, and help parents to cope with emotional problems. A gift to The Salvation Army's Annual Christmas Program can give a child the courage to dream again.

Reeve Clayton Hall visited several county health units in the province and recommended formation of a Hastings unit in conjunction with the city of Belleville.

Currently the city is operating a health department under a part time Medical officer of Health, but costs are not subsidized by the province. The city is reported anxious to enter a health unit with the county.

There was little discussion Thursday prior to taking of the health unit vote.

Reeve Verse McMurray wanted to know whether the county or the city would be the administrative body and what county-city representation there would be in the organization.

He was told that there would be a joint county city board, but that the county would be the administrative body.

"It would be the end of next year before the unit would be operating," Reeve Hall told council. "We want to go slow and take lots of time deciding on personnel before the unit is put into operation," he said.

Diary of a Vagabond by Dorothy Barker

Speed, Style and Comfort

A new chapter has been written in the romance of railroading. I realized this the moment I entered Union Station in Toronto to travel by train to Montreal recently. Curious crowds, photographers with their press cameras slung over their shoulders and expectant travelers milled about a new entrance to train platforms in the main concourse of the station. The whole appearance had the expectancy of a happening. Even royalty could not have received a warmer welcome than those persons who had chosen to make the inaugural trip aboard CN's new train.

Employees who were given the special task of naming this fast train between Canada's two great cities must have a special gift for nomenclature. Nothing could be more appropriate than 'Rapido.' It has cut elapsed travel time to a minute less than five hours.

Dining and parlour cars have been remodelled. Warm red carpets in the latter enhance walnut panelling, lowered ceilings (masking indirect lighting) and red and gray leather seats marching in sets of three down the aisle to accommodate 48 passengers, are all as modern in design as tomorrow.

Canadian National chose the inauguration of this rapid service to show off new employee uniforms. These will be regular attire for train and station employees alike from now on.

Ticket clerks behind the station counters wear bright blue blazers. Conductors, trainmen and porters are smart in charcoal gray serge, single breasted uniforms. When the train gets under way, the porter dons a bright red jacket. These are also worn by waiters in the dining car with their white aprons.

Infant Service Rates Cigars

Passengers were rather special on that first journey of the Rapido. The ladies each received a red or white carnation boutonniere tied with tri-colored ribbons, the gentlemen, cigars. Cigarettes and mints were passed at the conclusion of an excellent meal which is always complimentary to parlor car passengers.

I had a rather warm feeling of hospitality, the kind of feeling one experiences when a guest in a gracious home. It is quite obvious our publicly owned railway is interested in the passenger business and willing to provide the kind of service that attracts this type of revenue.

There won't be flowers, smokes and a special inaugural steak dinner on every run of the Rapido. Punctuality and a smooth ride will be the standard to be maintained. This was set on that last day in October, 1965, when CN launched its first individual train service between Montreal and Toronto in 32 years. Gone are the CN-CP pool trains. In their place CN has four trains daily and one other for special holiday periods covering every kind of service required by citizens residing in the area linking these two industrial empires.

Some tourists look at scenery, others see it.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S CLUB ENJOY ANNUAL CHRISTMAS DINNER

Members of the University Women's Club of Belleville and District held their annual Christmas dinner at the Quinte Hotel on Dec. 2nd. Before dinner the members enjoyed a sherry party at the home of the president, Mrs. R. E. Barrett.

Following the dinner, Mrs. B. C. Smith, membership chairman was in charge of the introduction of new members. Mrs. N. C. Hegewald, Mrs. P. R. DeTracy, Mrs. K. Nair, Mrs. M. Martyn and Miss Carol Roberts were welcomed individually by various members with a brief life story.

Entertainment consisting of music, skits and Christmas readings was provided by Mrs. D. I. MacKinnon, Mrs. R. K. Jeffrey, Mrs. R. N. McNicol, Mrs. J. L. Acton and Mrs. J. Haig.

The enjoyable evening was arranged by the members at large, Mrs. R. K. Jeffrey and Mrs. R. N. McNicol.

TROUT REARING AT WHITE LAKE HATCHERY

Three hundred and twenty five thousand trout are now wintering at the White Lake Hatchery located on No. 7 Highway near Sharkot Lake - 200,000 of these are speckled trout, 75,000 lake trout and 50,000 rainbows.

The trout now being held in the White Lake Hatchery ponds were brought in as fingerlings from other Provincial hatcheries about mid-October. This is necessary because the water supply from the ponds is drawn off the surface of White Lake proper and warms to a temperature beyond the tolerance for trout during the summer months, therefore it is impossible to hold parent brood stock over from year to year.

Hatchery personnel at White Lake take great care in grading and weighing these delicate creatures before placing them in the ponds where they will be fed and cared for throughout the long winter months.

Feeding trout is an exacting part of the work of the hatchery staff, yet it is less cumbersome than it was a decade ago when trout were fed a straight diet of beef liver which had to be ground finely and kept in storage.

Today trout are fed a special balanced formula pellet which promotes excellent growth and a general healthy condition in the young trout. When common hatchery diseases threaten, the trout are immediately placed on a diet of medicated pellets containing the necessary drugs to control disease.

Trout react somewhat like chickens at feeding time. When hatchery workers appear on the feeding ramp with a container of pellets, trout rush in from all parts of the pond to the feeding tables.

The feeding tables are located on both sides of the ramp and about 18 ins. underwater.

When the pellets are placed on the feeding tables trout dart in, from every side and eagerly gulp down the food placed before them. It is fascinating indeed to watch thousands of trout darting in and out from the feeding tables.

Food consumption is retarded somewhat during the cold winter months, but as soon as the water begins to warm again in the spring trout feed heavily and grow rapidly. Trout are held until May 1st at which time the district stocking program begins. The trout are then seined from the ponds and placed in troughs and raceways prior to their final trip to the many district lakes and streams of the district. Here these fish are released and eventually after a further period of growth become available to anglers.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOHN H. FENN
Belleville - Ivanhoe

In failing health for the past three weeks, Mrs. Mabel Fenn of 48 Craig Street, Belleville, died in St. Joseph's Hospital in Toronto on Friday, December 10, 1965. She was born at Whitehall, Michigan, 82 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonah Jarvis and had resided in Belleville for the past four years. For many years she resided in Ivanhoe and Madoc Township.

Mrs. Fenn was a member of the Free Methodist Church in Belleville, and is survived by five daughters, Mrs. M. (Gladys) Empey of Belleville, Mrs. O. (Jean) Coutere of Long Branch, Mrs. J. (Barbara) McKenna of Port Credit, Mrs. T. (Heloise) Relyea of Prescott, Mrs. H. (Betty) Mitchell of Peterborough; three sons, Earl Fenn of Ivanhoe, Wilfred Fenn of Bancroft, Keith Fenn of New Toronto; three sisters, Mrs. Fern Richardson of Marmora, Mrs. Ida Broad of Madoc, Mrs. Heloise Kitching of Toronto, and two brothers, James Jarvis of Toronto and Roy Jarvis of Red Lake.

One sister is predeceased. Also surviving are 16 grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren. Her husband, John H. Fenn, died some years ago.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, December 13th with service conducted in the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, by Rev. Edith Mainprize of Belleville.

Bearers were: William Richardson, Robert Jones, Mac Richardson, Gordon Preston, Ken Broad and Donald Ash.

MRS. DURLIN MASON TWIDDY
Belleville - Madoc

Following a lengthy illness, Mrs. Mabel Jane Twiddy, 78 Benjamin Street, Belleville, died Friday, December 10, 1965, in Belleville General Hospital. She was in her 85th year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willis, she was born in England but had lived most of her life in the Madoc township area, going to Belleville 18 months ago. She was a member of the United Church.

Predeceased by her husband, Durlin Mason Twiddy, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Florence Landry of Cleveland, Ohio, a brother, Jim Willis of Campbellford, and two sisters, Mrs. D. (Mary) Allen, Redondo Beach, California, and Mrs. W. (Florence) Old of Tisbury Wills, England. Also surviving are five grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

She is predeceased by a son, Foster Twiddy and a daughter, Miss May Twiddy, also by a sister and a brother.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, December 13th with service conducted in the MacKenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, by Rev. W. M. Sedgwick.

Bearers were: John Allore, Bert Willis, George Allore, Ken Twiddy, Oliver Willis and Sam Twiddy.

ARTHUR A. BROWNSON

The death occurred of a well known and respected citizen of Madoc township in the person of Arthur Alexander Brownson of R.R. 1, Eldorado, on Monday, December 6, 1965, at the home of his son, Gerald Brownson, of R.R. 2, Marmora, where he had been for the past two weeks.

He was a son of the late John Brownson and the late former Anne Liberty, and was born and educated in Madoc township 85 years ago at the hamlet known as Brownson's Rapids.

Mr. Brown was a cheesemaker of merit which trade he followed by 35 years, retiring to engage in full time farming, where he still resided.

He is survived by his wife, the former Addie Lajoie, six sons, Lorne of Garson, Ont.; Gerald of Marmora; Charles of Sudbury; Simon and Cecil of Oshawa, and Arthur of Port Credit; four daughters, Mrs. Joseph P. (Marie) O'Neill, Marmora; Mrs. Edward (Mae) Flynn, London, Ont.; Mrs. Michael Callery (Annie), Deloro; Mrs. Stafford Callery (Rose), of Garson, Ont. One son, Kelly, predeceased.

Also surviving are an elder brother, Charles Brownson of Picton, and a sister, Mrs. Victoria Simmons of Prindle's Nursing Home in Belleville.

The funeral was held from the Cassidy Funeral Home in Marmora, thence to Sacred Heart of Mary Church, Madoc, on Thursday, December 9th for Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. Interment was in Sacred Heart of Mary cemetery, Madoc.

The bearers were all grandsons and were: Edward Flynn, Harold O'Neill, Thomas Callery, Brian Brownson, Barney Callery and Joseph O'Neill.

LIQUOR STORE IN STIRLING IS APPROVED

Residents of Stirling Village Monday approved the sale of liquor at a government liquor store.

Eighty seven per cent of the village's 815 eligible voters went to the polls giving the liquor outlet a 63.78 per cent majority. Sixty per cent majority is necessary for the question to carry.

The last time the question was voted on in Stirling the liquor outlet was defeated by only a percentage fraction following a recount of votes.

MOIRA VALLEY SCOUT COUNCIL HELD DECEMBER MEETING

The December meeting of the Moira Valley Scout Council was held at the residence of Dr. George Mullin, secretary of the council, on Tuesday, December 7th.

Those present were the DC, Joe Irish and his wife, DCM Pearl Irish; ADC, Gordon Russell; DSM Ernest Harvey and President Rev. J. H. Thompson. Also attending this meeting were the chairman and treasurer of the Madoc group committee, Rev. David Potter and Mr. Ed Hyde along with their two leaders, CM Ed Hill and SM Tony Owen.

In the president's opening report, he spoke at length on the Regional Conference held in Bowmanville last Saturday in which the secretary and District Commissioners also attended. At this conference the report of the district's yearly activities were presented. Much information was given on the new Cub and Scout program. A film entitled "The Real Security" was shown to inform those present of the changing world lived in. Scouting must have a new appeal to attract the modern boy, one cannot rest upon one's morals and things done in the past can be used again in the future.

Discussion took place concerning new leadership and for more parents taking an active interest in the movement and training of their boys. Good leaders could always take more training.

Courses were planned for each district to take place next year for Cub and Scout leaders. Respective groups would be informed of the various training dates coming up.

The Queen's Scout ceremony will be held on a district level so that many local people can witness the important event in the life of a Scout.

Coming events for 1966 include the 5th Canadian Rover Meet, held this year in British Columbia. A jamboree will be held in Reykjavik, Iceland, in July and another in Japan in August. The 50th anniversary of the Wolf Cub section will also be observed throughout Canada and districts are called upon to remember this milestone in the movement. It

SEEK IDEAS FOR QUINTE DISTRICT JAIL

An official tour of jails in southwestern Ontario and in Detroit may provide ideas to be incorporated in a new reform institution to be built near Belleville.

Taking part in the tour Tuesday were Douglas Penfold, assistant deputy minister of reform institutions, and David Dougall of Toronto, an inspector of the administration, institution and jail branch of the department.

The two men visited jails at Chatham, Windsor and across the river in Detroit.

It was recorded that both the radio and press were always glad to receive news on the movement. Publicity is still a good advertisement for Scouting.

The secretary presented his monthly report, which was accepted. District Commissioners gave their reports and visits to various groups throughout the area. DC Irish presented registration cards to those present.

In the business, letters and discussion took place on Scouting with the handicapped, the draft agreement re Les Scouts Catholique, the report of the Regional Commissioner, winter programming, good deeds and necessity to report monthly badge progress to the District Commissioner.

Madoc group committee chairman, Rev. David Potter, reported on the lack of support re committee members and for the urgent need for three leaders for the large pack of boys who meet every week.

A father and son banquet will be held after Easter to appoint a new committee with the hope that more parents will show a little more interest in the training and needs of this community youth work. In the meantime, the present committee will hold its meetings on the second Wednesday of each month, inviting four leaders to assist in the council.

President J. H. Thompson expressed the co-operation and interest of the district executive, also applying to other groups in the Moira Valley.

Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

50 YEARS AGO December 9, 1915

On Thursday night of last week after the recruiting rally meeting, the Madoc Women's Institute took advantage of the occasion to present Messrs B. and W. Sills and T. Bailey who have enlisted for overseas service with a five dollar gold piece and two pairs of socks and on Saturday to Quarter-Master Sergt. Mr. R. Waring, a five dollar gold piece and two pair of socks.

The question of raising the subscription rates of weekly papers from $1 to $1.50 was discussed at the Canadian Press Ass'n. Convention held in Toronto in August, has already borne fruit. Owing to the increased cost of production it has become necessary to add the additional 50c and it will be only a matter of time until the $1.50 rate will be universal.

A quiet wedding took place on Wed. 1st inst., at the Tabernacle Methodist Church, Belleville, by the Rev. Dr. Moore when Miss Janey Wood of Belleville was united in marriage to Mr. Foster Keene of Madoc Township. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for a short honeymoon to Toronto and Sarnia, the bride travelling in a suit of blue with hat to match and also a set of mink furs, the gift of the groom. On their return they will live in Madoc Township.

A plan to salvage 1940 automobile licence plates which represent 300 tons of munitions steel by the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society was announced recently by Premier Hepburn.

The magazine and comic readers of Canada received a jolt from Finance Minister Hon. J. L. Ilsley recently when he presented his list of prohibited imports designed to conserve foreign exchange for essential war purchasing. He placed the following reading material on the list of imports prohibited except when originating within the Empire. Periodical publications unbound or paper bound, consisting largely of fiction or printed matter of a similar character, including Detective Six, Western and alleged True or Confession stories and publications commonly known as Comics but not including bonafide supplements used with newspapers.

Obituary—On Dec. 10th Joanne Parks, widow of the late Jacob Storrington passed away in Belleville. Left to mourn her loss, two sons, William of Madoc and Walter of Springbrook, one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Revoy of Madoc, one brother, Christopher Parks, Bancroft, and one grandchild, Mrs. Raymond Caterer of Crookston and two great grandchildren, Shirley and Ronnie Caterer. Born in Madoc Township on Thurs. November 28th to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Barry, a son.

Messrs Ted Hallstone and John Bristol of the R.C.A.F. spent the weekend at their homes.

Miss Helen Whytock of Peterboro spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whytock.

Mr. Chas. Kelly who was again elected to Marmora and Lake Council returned home from Belleville General Hospital this week. His arm is showing considerable improvement and it is hoped it will soon be well again.

Mr. John Burkitt of Madoc had the misfortune to slip on the ice near his home on Friday and broke his hip. Mr. Burkitt is a familiar figure in Madoc and his many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Pigden's Radio Service, Eldorado, offers honest guaranteed repair service.

15 YEARS AGO December 14, 1950

On Wed. evening prior to the last meeting of the 1950 Madoc Village Council, Reeve Jack Kincaid entertained the members of the council along with other Village officials at a dinner in Blue's dining room. Present were Councillors, Rivers, McGowan, Hulin and Smith, Dr. S. R. Beatty, M.O.H., Fred Curry, Clerk, K. T. Nicol, Treasurer, L. Mulrooney, Fire Chief, Dave Phillips, Street foreman, Jack Livingstone, Inspector of Waterworks, Percy Holland, Assessor, and the Publisher of the Review.

Favourable results from the advertising media of pamphlets and a booth in the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show has prompted the joint publicity committees of the city organizations and the County Council to suggest similar but expanded efforts in 1951. So County Tourist and Publicity Committee chairman Reeve Jack Kincaid of Madoc told County Council in his Dec. report. Reeve Kincaid pointed out the idea behind the booklet is County advertising and not that of the individual operator. Warden Clarke Rollins suggested that larger, more appropriate signs be placed on leading highways designating resorts and places off the beaten track. Other reeves supported the publicity committee chairman in his contention that if Hastings wants tourist business it must spend money in proper advertising. The report was adopted.

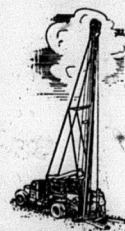

A pretty autumn wedding was solemnized at four o'clock at the United Church parsonage, Seeley's Bay, Ont., when Rev. S. A. R. Delve united in marriage Beverley Madeline, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer, Bannockburn, and Gerald Frederick, youngest son of Mrs. Hugh and the late Mr. Keller of Madoc. The bride wore a light blue gabardine suit with matching accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. She was attended by Miss Margaret McCoy of Madoc. The groom was attended by Mr. Presley Nickle of Madoc.

Obituary—After a lengthy illness, Thomas Frederick Adams died at his home in Madoc Township on Tuesday at the age of 78 years. He was married twice. His first wife, of former Clara Rebecca Huffman died in 1919 and his second wife, the former Mary Anne Sexsmith died in 1945. Surviving are three daughters, Miss Ethel Adams of Belleville, Mrs. Laura Fleming of Marmora, Miss Thomas Frederick Adams at home, two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Emerson of Thomasville, and two brothers, Chester of Belleville and Melburn of Thomasburg.

THE BLACKOUT AND THE TELEPHONE

Recently in this column I explained how it is that the telephone continues to work in the event of a power failure—that our exchanges all have reserve power in case of emergency. I was of course thinking of a limited local failure, and not at all of the power failure last month from southern Ontario to the Atlantic seaboard. Yet the result, as far as telephone service was concerned, was the same—all Bell exchanges where the power cutoff occurred immediately switched to their standby power, and telephones kept on working.

This was certainly important in averting uncertainty and panic and, with family members able to keep in touch, turned the blackout into an adventure for many. Yet, perhaps even more important was the role the telephone played in helping the power companies restore their service.

With generating stations, transformers, switching systems and control centres located tens and even hundreds of miles apart, you can well imagine the physical impossibility of getting all the units to work together in harmony without being able to communicate from one to another. If telephone service had broken down as well, who knows how many days or weeks it might have taken to co-ordinate the restoral of electric power? It would probably have been necessary to resort to radio communications, but even this would have been extremely difficult without the telephone. For example, how would you get out the directives to set up radio systems ???

This expedient was not necessary because the Company maintains standby power at all the power commission's generating and transformer locations, area offices and switching centres. This reserve power went into use immediately to provide the communications necessary for Ontario Hydro to restore regular power. And of course, once the regular power was restored, it took over from the batteries to "feed" the telephone system just as it usually does, 24 hours a day. The interdependence of power and communications utilities was shown very clearly.

SUSANNA'S FAMILY FARE

tips n' topics

Put Candles On Ice

DEAR SUSANNA: There will be lots of lettering to do on holiday packages and parcels before Christmas. A brush from an old bottle of nail polish (cleaned out with polish remover) makes a neat applicator for use when lettering is being done with colored paints.

DEAR SUSANNA: This isn't a sparkling new idea, but it is one I've always enjoyed making and using. In fact I get a pleasant sensation whenever I think of the delightful spicy smell that comes from a closet where a pomander ball is hanging.

If you start a couple now, they will be perfect for Christmas.

You'll need: A lemon, an orange or an apple; whole cloves (several dozen for each fruit); a large pinch oforris root (try the drug store) and an equal quantity of powdered cinnamon.

Punch small nail holes in the fruit and insert the clove buds, touching each other until they cover the entire surface. Dust well with orris root and cinnamon by shaking gently in a paper bag. Wrap remainder in foil and store in a cool, dry place until fruit is hard and dry. Then hang, in amongst your clothes by a pretty, bright ribbon or single covering of nylon net. They smell so good.

DEAR SUSANNA: Tint sugar cubes by filling a medicine dropper with desired pure food coloring and place one or two drops on each cube. Let stand until dry. Red and green ones add a delightful Christmas touch.

DEAR SUSANNA: To smooth gravy that is slightly lumpy, give it a good whisking with your hand or electric beater.

The same idea applies if you are warming up some cooked cereal; add a little hot water and beat. All smooth in no time.

DEAR SUSANNA: On the night before your next candle-lit evening, place the candles to be used in the refrigerator and leave them there 'til party time.

No, this isn't a new kind of desert, Susanna, it is a sure-fire method of lengthening a candle's burning power.

They will not only burn longer but will burn more evenly as well.

DEAR SUSANNA: When making scrambled eggs, measure out the milk, then pour it over the egg coated beater and right into the bowl that the egg was beaten in — the result is that every bit of the egg goes into the scramble and is not left on the beater or in the bowl.

DEAR SUSANNA: Your most interesting and informative column has prompted me to send you a small idea: For an attractive buffet centerpiece, a nice, green, well-shaped cabbage can be decorated with toothpicks onto which cheese squares, olives, pickles and fresh fruit pieces have been stuck. Completely eye-catching and edible.

DEAR SUSANNA: I have another excellent use for the vinegar from sweet mixed pickles besides using it in salad dressings.

Cook and cut up a batch of beets, add the juice from the pickles, cover, and allow them to stand in the refrigerator for a couple of weeks. You'll have the tastiest beets you ever tried.

HAZZARD'S U.C.W.

The Hazzard's U.C.W. meeting was held on December 3rd at eight o'clock in the church. The meeting opened with quiet Christmas music with Mrs. Philo Harris at the piano. The President gave a reading on Christmas Times and prayer. There were 10 members and 15 visitors present. The roll call was responded to with "our most memorable Christmas." A gift of money is to be sent to the Lay Foundation.

The Worship was led by Mrs. Mervil Lees, assisted by Miss Minnie Moorcroft. The Scripture, read by Miss Minnie Moorcroft was taken from Isa. Chapter 9, verse 6, also St. Matthew 2, verses 1-7. Hymn 55, "Joy to the World," was sung.

A Christmas dialogue was performed by six of the Hi-C group. Mrs. Ross Moorcroft, Miss Katherine Burnside and Miss Beverley Ketcheson sang three Christmas hymns.

Mrs. Mervil Lees thanked the young people for taking part and the President thanked all who took part in the meeting and closed with prayer. A dainty lunch was served by the members.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES TO ATTEND CONVENTION

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Madoc area have been invited to Belleville for a three-day convention. It was announced this week by Mr. Robert Pounder, spokesman for the local group.

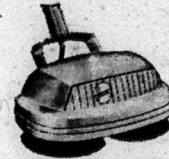

Sponsored by the Watchtower Society of Toronto, the program will include discourses and staged dramatizations encouraging increased Bible study and Christian ministry work in local communities to counteract the growing disbelief in the Bible's authenticity according to Mr. Pounder.

Five hundred are expected at the gathering which opens December 31 in a Belleville high school auditorium.

CHRISTMAS TREE FIRE SAFETY TIPS

Preparations for the holiday season are about to begin, and in millions of Canadian homes Christmas trees will be lighted as part of the holiday observance.

A Christmas tree, properly cared for, can be a joy. A Christmas tree that is allowed to dry out becomes a fire hazard.

To assist you in enjoying a Merry Christmas and a fire-safe one, the Canadian Underwriters' Association presents these suggestions about the purchase and care of your Christmas tree:

- 1—When you buy a tree this year, take your time. Feel the needles to be sure the tree is a fresh one. Brush the needles with your hand, and if some of them drop off, choose another tree. If needles, when brushed, drop off all trees, choose another seller. Don't be afraid to shop around.

- 2—When you have taken your tree home, if possible keep it out of doors until you are ready to place it in its stand and decorate it. If you have no place to keep it out of doors, keep it in a non-heated garage or some other cool place. And, immediately, stand the tree in a pail of water. A freshly cut tree will "drink" water and help keep itself fresh and green.

SYMBOL OF CHRISTMAS. This youngster finds a stranger perched on his Christmas tree. Like any space-age boy, his interests take wing and the dove is made welcome. But the real symbolism is older than the space-age: Peace On Earth.

3—And don't bring the Christmas tree inside until just before Christmas.

4—You can keep your Christmas fresh longer by placing it in the coolest part of the room. Select a location which is away from radiators, hot air ducts, heaters, and fire-places.

5—When you buy a stand for the tree, select one which has a water container in which the trunk can rest. The tree will continue to "drink" water indoors, and more than you probably imagine. Check the metal container every day and refill it regularly.

6—Always use flameproof decorations when trimming the tree. Preferably, you should use those made of glass, metal or fire-resistant material.

7—Check the wires and sockets of Christmas tree lights several days before decorating the tree. If a string of lights has frayed wires, it should be discarded. Buy new ones and when you make your purchase, be sure the lights bear the U.L. label of Underwriters Laboratories.

8—If possible, Christmas tree lights should be controlled by a switch some distance from the tree. A switch away from the tree avoids possible sparks and makes it easier to shut off the electricity in case of trouble in the wiring or lights. If the light wires are attached to a base-board outlet, it might be difficult to turn off in case of fire.

9—If part of your Christmas display includes an electrical train, the tracks should be set up away from the tree. A spark from a toy train under a tree could cause a Christmas fire.

10—Turn off Christmas tree lights at bedtime, and when there is no one in the room, and always when nobody is home.

11—Your Christmas tree should be checked frequently for dryness. In particular, check the needles on the tree near lights. If needles near a light are dry and brittle, change the position of the light. If the tree becomes so dry that the needles are falling in volume, take the tree down.

12—Never decorate metal trees with Christmas lights with metal trees there is always danger of an electrical shock or short circuit, the Canadian Underwriters' Association says. Off-the-tree lighting should be used to give both a safe and attractive illumination.

13—When Christmas gifts are opened, gather up gift wrappings immediately. Fold and put away any wrappings you may want to save and other paper, boxes, cords or ribbons should be gathered together and disposed of.

14—When you take your tree down after the Christmas season, discard it outside, and remember to treat it as a fire hazard until it is removed.

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Diary of a Vagabond by Dorothy Barker

Education for Ambitious Adults

One might speculate if Sir George Williams ever anticipated what widely divergent services the YMCA he founded in London on June 6, 1844, would provide. Did he ever think a university in the heart of the business section of Montreal would be named after him? Great men with high ideals and vision seldom waste time anticipating. Their logic is action and because of this man's desire for a program of development, generations of young people (as well as those in their senior years) have greatly benefitted.

I have a story of achievement to tell, chiefly because there once was a Sir George Williams. As background for my tale, playing a part rather like a harmonious theme, let me relate briefly a little of the history of Sir George Williams University.

It wasn't always a university. It came into being through educational work in the Montreal YMCA and developed into a formal educational program of that association. Inaugurated in 1873, unit evening courses were held covering vocational and general educational subjects. These were later co-ordinated into the system to become known as the YMCA Schools.

By 1920, an evening high school was convened. In 1926, this up-until-then nameless venture was given the appropriate title "Sir George Williams College." It was also made co-educational. In 1929 the college program was extended to include the first year of studies at university level in Arts, Science, Commerce and pre-Engineering. Operated under the charter of the YMCA during greatly expanding development, Sir George Williams College was finally awarded in 1949, its own charter as a college or university. By special by-law, however, it still operates as the formal educational arm of the Montreal YMCA.

Delayed Ambition

While this undertaking was expanding and endeavouring to meet educational needs of young men residing in a large city, another young man was faced with the whims of fate. Upon graduation from high school in Summerside, Prince Edward Island, Robert Gordon had little more to worry about than that his ambition to enter the ministry seemed possible to attain after a course at Dalhousie University in Halifax. But with one university year to his credit, family difficulties cancelled any further educational ambitions, for the time being at least.

His father's illness molded his career when he took over this parent's responsibility as CNR express agent in his home town. The 1914-18 war also intervened. Robert Gordon returned from service to realize the pattern of his life for many years to come was already set.

He pays tribute to his wife, whom he lost just before his retirement in July 1962, crediting her with his successful climb from CNR express agent to General Manager, CN Express in 1960.

"All along I coveted the inspiration to return to university," he told me during the hour I spent trying to convince this publicity shy person his achievement as a graduate of Sir George Williams University (after his retirement from service to the railroads) would be an inspiration for other senior citizens faced with the leisure hours retirement imposes.

As if trying to understand his own attitudes he remarked that he has one foot in the '20s the other in the '60s. It seems to me he has straddled these years quite successfully. I have since learned he has again registered at Sir George Williams University, this time for a course in history. To add to his credits he is writing a thesis on the history of the CN. This shouldn't be too hard for him after researching facts for since his youth he has lived through many of the ups and downs of this railway.

COMMUNICATION

WON MOOSE CALLING COMPETITION

Homewood, Illinois,
December 12, 1965.

North Hastings Review,
Madoc, Ontario,
Dear Jim Watson,

Expect to retire shortly and will be doing a lot of travelling with no permanent address. This means cancelling my subscription to the Review, after enjoying it for so many years.

The old Paper has certainly kept me in touch with events and I'm going to miss it greatly. I can remember when your Dad first took over the paper, back in the early days of the century. Many of the kids I attended school with have passed on. I hope I have a few good years left. Have a lot of fishing to get caught up with.

Had something unusual happen a couple of months ago, entered a Moose Calling contest, sponsored by one of the Radio Stations, W.C.F.L., Chicago. I won the contest with an old call taught me by old Henry Mitchell. The prize, as Champion of Mid-America, was an all expense trip to New York. Had to give the Moose Call in Yankee Stadium. I'm sure Henry must have heard it up in that mythical Happy Hunting Ground.

Best of luck, Jim, and I hope to get up to Madoc during the summer months. I never did finish exploring that North Country.

Sincerely,
Bruce McBain.

BELL PRESENTS SCIENCE PROGRAM TO ASSIST HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

Conductors, semi-conductors and crystallography are the subject matter of the 1965-66 "aids to high school science" program, made available by the Bell Telephone Company.

Company representatives are travelling throughout Ontario and Quebec presenting the program to high school science teachers in the two provinces.

Locally, teachers from Belleville met at Quinte Secondary School, Belleville, November 16th to hear Bell engineer Henry Geeves outline the latest teaching aids.

The program was designed to assist teachers in the presentation of the subject matter to their classes, and to give students with a special aptitude for science advanced material to work on.

Five text books and two films were included in the teachers' portion of this latest science package, along with an experiment that enables students to grown their own crystals in the classroom, under teacher supervision.

The student kit—which this year deals with crystals and light—consists mainly of a polarizing microscope, a book of experiments and a reference book.

As in the past, those attending the presentation were able to order the teaching aids following the meeting. Student science kits will be sent to teachers at their request for distribution to advanced members of their classes.

HART'S - RIGGS' W. I.

On Wednesday evening, December 15th the Hart's-Riggs' Women's Institute met for their Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Leonard Trotter. A fine crowd of members and visitors and children were present to enjoy a happy time together. The president, Mrs. Carl Fleming presided and conducted the business period. The bus trip to General Motors at Oshawa and to the shopping centre afterwards was a success and much enjoyed. Tickets had been sold on a twenty-dollar hamper of groceries and the lucky ticket was drawn by Mrs. Ogle Devolin and won by Mrs. E. J. Meraw. With the money from this draw the Institute was able to finish paying for renovations done so far on the Institute hall. It was decided to change the regular card party night to the Wednesday between Christmas and New Year's.

The program committee consisting of Mrs. Francis Feeney and Mrs. Wm. Bateman then took over the meeting. Miss Katherine Burnside delighted everyone with two beautiful Christmas solos. Appropriate readings were given and a Christmas game followed. A number of favorite Christmas carols were sung.

An exchange of gifts followed and God Save the Queen was sung. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Austin Bristol, Mrs. Allan Ketcheson, Mrs. Cecil Woods and Mrs. Allan Franks.

World-wide employment by General Motors totalled 651,000 people in 1964.

Make merry, be happy, have fun for this is Holiday time!
There's joy in the air, warmth in our hearts—and a very Merry
Christmas on our lips.

10,000 LONG DISTANCE CALLS EXPECTED

Christmas dinner will come a bit later than usual for Bell Telephone operators.

The girls will spend December 25 manning the switchboards for the expected rush of long distance calls that have become almost a tradition during the holiday season.

Mr. C. H. Buckley, Bell Canada manager for this region, said some 10,000 long distance calls will be handled by your Belleville operators on Christmas day, an increase of 500 over last year. New Year's day will be the same story, with 6,400 calls expected.

Throughout the company, traffic offices are gearing up to handle the expected rush. Mr. Buckley said that Bell operators in Ontario and Quebec expect to handle 397,000 calls Christmas day to places all over the country, and the world. That's 30,000 more calls than were placed the same day last year. The first day of the new year in 1965 saw 288,000 calls placed. This year's total is expected to better that figure by 23,000.

Mr. Buckley suggested that those planning overseas calls book them well in advance, and if possible arrange to make their calls just before and just after the peak periods.
A 20 per cent increase in overseas calls is expected during the holiday season.

He suggested too that customers take advantage of direct distance dialing wherever possible to dial their own station-to-station calls.

"Knowing the number and the area code will speed the call along, even when it is person-to-person," said Mr.
Buckley.

He reminded those planning holiday long distance calls that "night-and-Sunday" rates will be in effect from 6 p.m. Friday to 4.30 a.m. Monday on both Christmas and New Year weekends.

EARLY ROMAN HAD 'PRACTICAL' VIEW ON GIFT GIVING

mercial!"

This modern complaint, while it may have force, is somewhat lacking in originality.

"I hate the crafty arts of giving present," said the witty Roman poet Martial, who lived and wrote from about 40 to 104 A.D. "Gifts are like hooks."

His complaint was expressed in a series of poems written for a wealthy patron, at the time of the Saturnalia, the pagan festival from which came many Christmas customs.

averse to presents. After listing a large number of small gifts, such as toothpicks, figs, napkins, which had been delivered to him, he pointed out

IN MEMORIAM

ANDREWS — In loving memory of a dear grandfather, Alexander Andrews, who passed away December 23rd, 1963.

Though his smile is gone forever,
And his hand we cannot touch,
Still we have so many memories
Of the one we love so much.

His memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has him in His keeping.

We have him in our hearts.
Always remembered by granddaughter, Gloria, and grandson, Wilfred.

ANDREWS — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, Alexander Andrews who passed away, December 23, 1963.

Oh happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Betty and grandson, Douglas.

ANDREWS — In loving memory of our dear father and husband, Alex (Sandy), who passed away Dec.
23, 1963.

God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away;

We often sit and think of him,
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
Lovingly remembered by his wife,
Mary and family.

that it would have been much easier for the messenger to bring him "five pounds of silver plate."

CHRISTMAS CARDS TELL OF CHANGES

The tradition of exchanging Christmas cards is a charming part of the joyous holiday, and it has a history of its own.

One of the most interesting parts of that history is the way that greetings cards serve to record changing social customs, manners and fashions through the years, points out Miss Esther Mooney, curator of the Norcross, Inc., greeting card collection.

For instance, an English card of 1892 shows the formality existing between parents and children during the Victorian era. Here, a little girl kneels sedately, offering a Christmas bouquet, with the wish,
"May your life be a Merry Christmas."

Modern cards take a livelier, more light-hearted approach. Even earlier, greeting cards began to reflect an easier sort of filial relationship.
Declares a 1930 card: "3 cheers 4 a Merry Christmas and you, Dad!"

OMENS DIM YULE SPIRIT

"Merry" Christmas? Not always, according to some ancient beliefs once associated with the day.

Take, for instance, the old belief that cattle and other sable animals were given the power of speech on Christmas Eve.

Any person who heard the animals speak would die within a year, so superstition said.

Somber omens of death were read into still other Yuletide legends.
When the Yule log burned, bystanders were told to watch the shadows on the walls. If the shadows of any persons appeared to be headless, this supposedly meant death for those persons again within a year.

Salt was also said to have the power of forecasting life or death, when used in connection with Christmas. The test could be made by leaving a small mound of salt on the table on Christmas Eve. If the salt melted during the night that, too, meant death within 12 months.

If the salt remained unmelted, the forecast was for a long and healthy life.

QUEENSBORO U.C.W.

The annual meeting of the Queensboro United Church Women was held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday evening, December 8th.

The president, Mrs. Harry DeClair, was in the chair. The secretary, Mrs. C. A. McMurray read the minutes of the last annual meeting.

Mrs. W. Sedgwick was in charge of the devotional period.

Slate of officers for the year 1966 is as follows:

Past president, Mrs. H. DeClair; president, Mrs. K. Cassidy; vice-president, Mrs. James Gordon; secretary, Mrs. Roy Rollins; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. A. Sager; treasurer, Mrs. H. Tokley; community friendship and visiting, Mrs. W. Cassidy; citizenship and social action, Mrs. R. A. Sager; Christian education, Mrs. E. Holmes; flower and fruit, literature and communication, Mrs. John Thompson; program, Mrs. W. Sedgwick; social functions, Roberta Sager; stewardship and recruiting, Mrs. C. A. McMurray; supply and social assistance, Mrs. Frank O'Rourke.

COUNTY COUNCIL CONCURS IN RESOLUTION

Members of Hastings County Council feel that students in elementary and high schools should receive more instruction of government procedures in all three levels, municipal, provincial and federal.

And they've even gone so far as to concur in a Huron county resolution asking the Ontario Minister of Education to have instruction on government procedure introduced to school curriculums.

However, not all members were sure that instruction of government procedure was not already in the school's curriculum with several stating that such instruction was being given in their local schools.

But other members, particularly Reeve Verse McMurray of Tudor, said the lack of knowledge of government procedure on the part of school students was shocking. He said this lack of knowledge extended even to university level.

QUEENSBORO HOME MAKING CLUB

Meetings one and two included election of officers and was held at Mrs. Allen Sager's home. At this meeting the girls discussed "Cleanliness and Dishwashing."

During meeting three at Mrs. Roushorne's home, discussion took place regarding "Sharing the family meal." For group work, the girls did "Table setting."

Janice Rollins was hostess for the fourth meeting. The discussion was on "Entertaining at Tea," and group work was "Making sandwiches."

Meeting five was held at Annette Devolin's home, and there was a discussion on "Party Ideas." Group work included a quiz on the group work of all the meetings.

The sixth meeting was held at Mrs. Allen Sager's with a discussion on "Party Refreshments." Group work was "Setting a Buffet Table."

Mrs. Allen Sager was hostess for meeting seven at which discussion took place on "Etiquette or manners" and group work on "Writing invitations."

The eighth meeting of the club was held at Mrs. Allen Sager's home. Group work subjects were "Planning to show our skit and exhibits to guests, and also Achievement Day."

FISH PLANTING LISTS TO BE RELEASED IN JANUARY

The fish planting lists for the Tweed District for the current year are at present being prepared for release early in January 1966.

Trout anglers are now sending in their creel report forms (attached to the 1964 stocking lists) for the current year's (1965) catches that were made by them.

There are, however, a considerable number yet to be mailed to the Department of Lands and Forests, Tweed.

It is important that these catch report forms be completed and sent in, because our mailing list for the current year's stocking is based on the return forms completed and sent in to the district office at Tweed.

If you have not completed your creel forms please do so as soon as possible, and you will automatically receive a copy of this year's stocking list by return mail in January 1966.

We need the catch information—good or bad. You will benefit by having the stocking list as a guide to waters stocked, as well as the number and species.

If you do not have a creel return form you may get one from your nearest Fish and Game Club, or write direct to the Department of Lands and Forests, Tweed.

CAR-ANIMAL ACCIDENTS ON INCREASE

Deer and moose ranked next to domestic cattle among animals killed in car accidents in the first eight months of 1965, the Driver Control Branch of the Department of Transport reports.

There were 281 cattle killed in accidents, 214 deer, 105 moose, 37 horses and 14 bears.

No people were killed although the number of accidents rose from 450 in the same 1964 period to 626 this year, an increase of 30.4 per cent.

Car-animal accidents injured 78 drivers and passengers. Many accidents killed more than one animal, for there were a total of 746 animals killed.

Property damage to vehicles totalled $168,872. Value of domestic animals killed was another $38,140.

In one accident, four horses, including two thoroughbreds, ran onto the Queen Elizabeth Way and were killed. The horses were valued at $3,500.

Sixty-six per cent of the accidents occurred at night and about 26 per cent during the day. A small number happened at dawn and dusk.

May you find good cheer, peace and happiness at Christmas time. These are our sincere wishes for all our friends who have made

INTERSECTION FLASHER AT RIDGE ROAD RECOMMENDED BY JURY

A flashing red light should be installed as a traffic safeguard at a main intersection in the Hastings County Road system north of Belleville, a coroner's jury recommended Monday.

The improvement was suggested for the junction of the Ridge Road and the Madoc County Road at West Huntingdon.

Loose gravel at the intersection should also be cleared up, the jury ruled as it returned a verdict of accidental death on four-month-old Kimberley Carrol of Steenburg, killed when her parents' car was involved in a crash November 13.

Four other persons were injured in the Saturday night accident at the intersection as a car driven by Alan Elliot, 30, of Ottawa, collided with the automobile of Delmar Carrol.

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

Mrs. Walter Brett was hostess for the Christmas meeting of St. Peter's W.M.S. There were thirteen members and one visitor present. Due to the illness of the president, Mrs. Oria Reid presided, giving the Call to Worship, Isaiah 9:6, followed by prayer.

Luke 4:18 was read before the singing of hymn 174, "O Come all ye faithful."

Isaiah 9:2 was read and hymn 165, "Joy to the world! the Lord is come" was sung.

A third verse of Scripture was read before the singing of hymn 170, "It came upon the midnight clear."

Luke 2:14 was read and the group sang, "Hark! the herald angels sing."

The Scripture Lesson, St. Luke 2: 8-20 was read by Mrs. McIntosh and the meditation on this passage was read by Mrs. Woods.

A prayer offered by Mrs. Reid closed the devotional part of the meeting.

As this was the annual meeting, all yearly reports were given by the conveners of the various offices.

A committee including Mrs. Blakely, Mrs. Kernohan, Mrs. Stout was appointed to prepare a program for the new year.

Mrs. Woods presented the report of the Nominating Committee and the following officers were named: President, Mrs. Gladys Bailey; 1st Vice President, Mrs. O. Reid; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. F. Allan; Treasurer, Mrs. D. Blakely; Rec. Secretary, Mrs. H. Stout; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. Mabel Clarke; Supply Secretary, Mrs. J. Donehue; Home Helpers, Mrs. B. Kilpatrick; Assistant Supply, Mrs. D. Kernohan; Welcome and Welfare, Mrs. E. Hailstone; Welcome and Welfare Assist., Mrs. J. Donehue; Press Secretary, Mrs. Cecil Woods; Glad Tidings Sec., Mrs. W. Brett; Pianist, Mrs. W. Brett.

Mrs. Wallace thanked Mrs. Brett and the singing of "Holy night! peaceful night!" closed the meeting.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.

SANTA CAME TO MADOC

Santa came to Madoc last Saturday afternoon and although a late start was made in making preparations and a smaller parade than usual, the event was a decided success. Credit for Santa's visit must go to Mr. Weaver of the Staff of Centre Hastings Secondary School and the Cadet Band. Treats for each child present were provided by the merchants of Madoc and movies in the morning and afternoon in the High School by the Kiwanis Club.

Headed by Johnnie Kincaid's Kids' Band, the parade left the high school about 2 p.m. and passed through some of the principal streets of the village to the public school where candies and fruit were handed out by Santa and his helpers.

In the parade were floats by The Community Centre, asking for support for the Artificial Ice Fund, Kiwanis float, Hunters' and Anglers', Madoc Co-op, Adams' Body Shop, Oakdale Rebekah Lodge and I.O.O.F., Kincaid Bros. IGA, Kaladar float, the Cadet Band and of most importance, Santa, in a convertible driven by Miss Patsy Kincaid.

MADOC CHAPTER O.E.S. HOST TO GRAND OFFICERS

The officers and members of Madoc Chapter O.E.S. No. 143 were honored to have several Grand Officers present at their December 13th meeting.

The Worthy Grand Matron Sister Evelynne Little and the Worthy Grand Patron, Bro. Gordon Murray were welcomed and given Grand Honours by the Worthy Matron, Sister Mary Barton.

A hearty welcome was given to the Associate Grand Matron, Sister Helen Marston, the Associate Grand Patron, Bro. Earl McKeever, Grand Organist, Sister Arva McKenzie, Grand Warder, Sister Shirley Gordon, District Deputy Grand Matron, Sister Doris McPaul, and to Sister Monty Murray, wife of the Worthy Grand Patron. Also present were a number of P.D.D.G.M.s and Presiding Matrons and Patrons from Tweed, Marmora, Port Hope, Ameliasburg, Wellington, Trenton and Minerva, Belleville. Other Chapters represented were Colborne, Bancroft, Havelock, and Belleville No. 55.

The Grand Officers were guests to a turkey dinner preceding the meeting, accompanied by the Matrons and Patrons from Tweed and Marmora. The newly decorated Chapter Rooms added greatly to the happy occasion. After the very inspiring messages from the Grand Officers, the meeting was closed and a delicious buffet supper was enjoyed by everyone.

The officers are grateful to all members who assisted in making this meeting such a success.

The holder of the lucky ticket on the Christmas Turkey drawn on Tuesday evening, December 21st was Mrs. Bill Derry.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The St. John the Baptist Junior Auxiliary held its annual mother and daughter Christmas party in the parish hall. Following games and tea, each J. A. member presented a beautiful embroidered napkin made by herself to her mother. Gifts were exchanged from the Christmas tree.

GREAT CHRISTMAS HYMNS

In 1685, the great Johann Sebastian Bach brought to a climax the music of the church. Of the making of his music there seems to have been no end, much of it is beautiful Christmas music. There are passages from his "The Passion According to St. Matthew," "The Christmas Oratorio" and the incomparable "Magnificat" to tell us the story of Christmas.

Almost contemporary with Bach was George Frederick Handel who in 1742 composed some of the best-loved Christmas music in parts of "The Messiah." In tones that catch up the joy and grandeur of the Divine Event, the composer tells the story of Christmas.

The way was clear now for more hymns and the poet Isaac Watts, and Handel together produced "Joy to the World." Early in the nineteenth century from Austria came "Silent Night" by Joseph Mohr and Franz Gruber.

Over in England, Charles Wesley wrote to Mendelssohn's music and the story told in "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing." Later in America, the words of "Away in a Manger" appeared and Phillips Brooks and his organist friend Lewis Redner, wrote "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

From the nineteenth century came the poignantly beautiful "Childhood of Christ" by Hector Berlioz. Some of the most delicate and lovely music of this composition reflects the mood and spirit of the Christmas Story.

60 WILL DIE ON HIGHWAYS AT CHRISTMAS

Sixty persons will die in automobile accidents in Canada over the Christmas holiday weekend, the Canadian Highway Safety Council has predicted.

The prediction is for the period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Monday.

The council says in the last 10 years 500 people have died on Canada's highways during the Christmas weekend, an average of 50 a year. In 1964, the road death toll was 57 for Christmas.

The council's executive director, W. Arch Bryce, said in a statement: "The hard cold fact for Christmas this year is that 60 will die and 1,200 will be injured."

RECTOR ENTERTAINS ST. JOHN'S CHOIR

The St. John the Baptist Choir was entertained by the Rector and his wife at a Christmas dinner in the Parish Hall on Wednesday. Roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, vegetables, mince pies and ice creams were enjoyed by 23 persons. Following the dinner, gifts were presented to Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Thompson and their children, Peter John and Nicola Mary. Choir practice was held in the church for the coming Christmas services, including the nine lessons and carols on December 26th.

DYMOND URGES IMMEDIATE BAN OF PLASTIC DRINK-COOLERS

An immediate end to the sale of plastic-covered ice balls and novelties for cooling drinks was recommended this week by Ontario Minister Matthew Dymond.

He said laboratory examinations of the water in ice balls from Hong Kong showed a high degree of contamination with bacteria of intestinal origin. Some organisms associated with human infections had been discovered, he added.

The ice balls also tend to leak with repeated use, making them a possible health hazard, Dr. Dymond said.

He suggested that persons using the coolers examine them for signs of leakage. If they show any, or if they originated in Hong Kong, they should be discarded, he said. Only the Hong Kong products have been found to be infected.

Dr. Dymond, who has sent his recommendation to all medical officers of health, said no illness directly traceable to the ice balls has been reported in Ontario.

Dr. S. R. Beatty, local Medical Officer of Health, received a telegram from Dr. Dymond recommending him to take the necessary steps to remove the Hong Kong products from sale.

Dr. G. W. O. Moss, Toronto's Deputy Medical Officer of Health, said his department would launch a blitz campaign to enforce Dr. Dymond's recommendation.

About 48 health department employees have been taken off their regular jobs to check on jobbers, wholesalers, and retail stores that might be selling the ice balls.

Dr. Moss said all outlets would be notified and inspected before Christmas.

O'HARA'S MILL TO BE NUCLEUS OF MUSEUM OR PIONEER VILLAGE

Popular O'Hara's Mill northwest of Madoc is to become the nucleus of a Moira River Conservation Authority museum or pioneer village, members of the Authority were told last Thursday at Cannifton as they held their final meeting of the year.

The century-old mill with its upright saw, has been a popular attraction since it was rebuilt and opened several years ago, while now a century-old log cabin schoolhouse from Elzevir township is being rebuilt on the property and also the Authority has purchased the original O'Hara homestead.

The meeting was told that already many items of pioneer equipment were being located for placement in the old O'Hara homestead.

Reports from all Authority advisory board chairmen were heard with Graham Bell reporting on water control, Gerald Irvine on education-extension, T. C. Graham on reforestation and Bruce Smith on conservation areas.

Mr. Smith told the meeting that the Vanderwater area at Plainfield continued to be a popular picnic and camping spot with 135 permits being issued for the year.

Of these 61 were from Belleville, 57 from Ontario and 13 from the United States.

Mr. Graham said the Authority now owned 14,304 acres of reforestation property of which 1,197 acres were recommended for purchase this year.

Also this year 183,000 trees were planted bringing the total to 2,366,225.

Mr. Irvine told of his committee's co-operation with 4-H clubs noting that this year was the first time a 4-H club dealing with conservation had been organized in Ontario.

He also reported that a special sub-committee had been appointed to investigate the possibility of organizing a conservation school in the Moira watershed in 1966. He expressed the hope that the school would include rural as well as urban children.

The Authority financial statement by secretary J. McLeod showed that $42,442 had been expended to Dec. 15th with just over $500. balance remaining. Government grants received or receivable totalled $24,957, it was stated.

The 1966 budget for recommendation to the incoming Authority members was approved. The overall budget is up but the local levy to be paid by the Authority municipalities remains at $18,000 the same as for 1965.

Increased government grants would allow much more to be accomplished with the same local levy, it was stated.

Authority chairman Geo. Wishart welcomed members and introduced A. D. Latonrell, supervisor of Authority field officers, who also attended the meeting.

The chairman referred to the appointment of the provincial select-committee on conservation authorities and said that as result of the committee's findings changes could be expected in conservation authority administration.

Mr. Wishart said that he and the Moira Authority secretary J. McLeod had prepared a brief for presentation to the committee. The brief has received approval from Belleville city council and also qualified approval from county officials.

The Authority decided to form another advisory committee next year for fish and wild life.

The meeting named Bruce Smith, Thomas Armstrong and Gerald Irvine as a nominating committee to suggest names for the 1966 Authority executive and for Authority advisory boards.

WATER LEVEL CONTROL DAMS WILL BE BUILT BELOW STOCO LAKE

Construction of water level control dams in the two branches of the Moira River just below Stoco Lake, will be the major capital works project for the Moira River Conservation Authority for 1966.

The estimated cost of the two control dam structures is set at $60,000 of which the main benefitting municipalities - Tweed village and Hungerford township - are expected to pay $13,500. The Ontario government through a 75 per cent grant will pay $45,000 with the balance of $1,500 to be raised from Authority levies.

Graham Bell, chairman of the Authority Water Control Advisory Board, told a general meeting of Authority members last week that both Tweed and Hungerford had now formally approved construction of the two dams.

Purpose of the two dams would be to control the summer level of Stoco Lake which in recent years has fluctuated greatly much to the discouragement of cottage owners around the lake.

Authority members also voted to recommend to the 1966 incoming Authority executive the construction of a reservoir dam at Deercrook Lake on Partridge Creek, northeast of Flinton.

Preliminary surveys and soil tests for the reservoir dam have been completed. The estimated cost of the earth fill dam has been set at about $179,000 of which the Ontario government under existing grants would pay 75 per cent.

However, Mr. Bell said there was a possibility of government grants being increased to 90 per cent or even 100 per cent under ARDA.

The decision of whether to go ahead with the Deercrook Lake dam will be the responsibility of the 1966 Authority members. Financing details of the project are still to be worked out.

Purpose of the reservoir dam would be to provide additional water storage to increase summer flow in the Moira.

HUNGERFORD'S APPROVAL CONDITIONAL

Although the Moira River Conservation Authority is prepared to go ahead next year with water level control dams in the Moira below Stoco Lake, it is still not definite that construction will get underway.

Last week at the full Authority meeting at Cannifton it was reported that both the village of Tweed and the township of Hungerford had given approvals for the dam construction but now it has been noted that Hungerford's approval was "conditional" on certain financial arrangements being made.

PARTRIDGE CREEK CONTROL DAM PROPOSED BY BOARD

Construction of a 220-foot earth fill water control dam on the Partridge Creek branch of the Skootamatta River, 20 miles northeast of Tweed, will be recommended to the Moira River Conservation Authority.

The recommendation for construction of the dam to provide additional dry season flow in the lower reaches of the Moira River, will be made to the Authority by its water advisory committee which met recently at Cannifton.

The dam, costing an estimated $179,000, exclusive of land acquisition, would increase the size of Deer Rock Lake to approximately 1,000 acres and would store more than 5,000-acre feet of water.

This, engineers estimate, would be sufficient to increase the dry season flow in the Moira to about 30 cubic feet per second over a three-month period.

Three possible sites for a water control dam on the Skootamatta River were considered by the Authority, but the site below Deer Rock Lake was recommended by Kilborn Engineering Ltd. as being the most economically feasible.

The ten foot high dam would about triple the present size of Deer Rock Lake. Most of the land required is owned by the Crown and could be acquired by long-term lease although timber would have to be removed and the area cleared.

The proposed Partridge Creek dam would be ten feet in height with concrete spillway and gate valve for controlling the lake water level over an eight feet vertical height range.

The water storage capacity of the reservoir would be increased to about 40 per cent of that at Lingham Lake north of Madoc.

District Forester Lloyd Rowson with the Department of Lands and Forests at Tweed said that public access to Deer Rock Lake would be a requirement in any long term lease for Crown property at the site.

Normally a 25 per cent government grant subsidy could be expected by the Authority toward the cost of the project.

However Authority committee members feel there is a possibility that through ARDA the available grant might be increased to more than 75 per cent.

The recommendation for construction of the dam will be made by the Water Advisory Committee to the Moira Authority Executive.

Ranking only seventh in size among Canada's 12 law schools, Dalhousie University's law faculty has graduated 19 provincial premiers and three Prime Ministers.

EVERGREEN STILL FAVOURITE TREE

In Christmas trees, it's the spirit that counts.

Almost anything can be—and is—a Christmas tree. In Minneapolis, Minn., they even made a tree out of water pipes, fastened like spokes to a telephone pole, and appropriately decorated.

In Wilmington, N.C., a live oak, more than 300 years old is adorned at the Yuletide with colourful ornaments and electric lights. In Indianapolis, Ind., they decorate the 246-ft. Soldiers and Sailors Monument with electric candles and stars.

The U.S. National Christmas Tree, officially designated in 1926, is not an evergreen but a giant redwood, located in Kings Canyon National Parks, California.

This unusual Christmas tree, called the "General Grant," is 3,500 years old.

Many families prefer the permanent Christmas tree, often made of aluminum.

Despite all this, the time-tested favourite tree is still the evergreen. Most people, if asked, would probably vote for the "fir tree."

Actually, there are nearly 40 species of the popular "fir" tree, found in the mountainous regions of Central and Southern Europe, Asia, north of the Himalayas and North America.

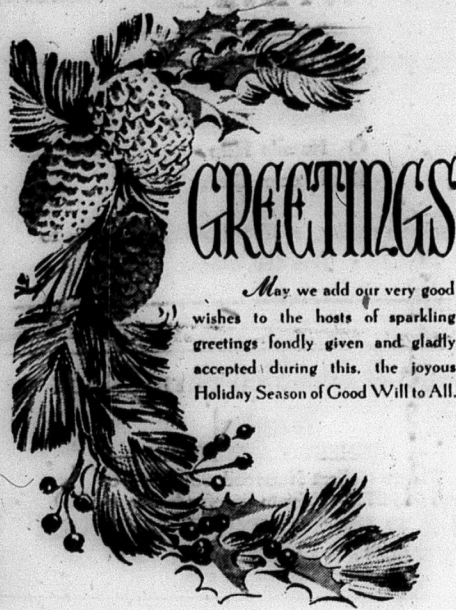

A frequently-seen Christmas tree variety is the "balsam fir" also called "Canada Balsam" or Balm of Gilead, according to the Encyclopedia Americana. This is one of the most common trees of eastern North America, extending from Virginia and West Virginia in the United States to Labrador and Newfoundland.

The balsam fir may grow to 40 or 50 feet tall. The southern fir is of about the same height and is found in the mountains of Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

Other American firs are essentially Western. They include the Pacific silver fir, the white fir, the grand fir, the Alpine fir, the red fir, the Shasta red fir and the noble fir. These firs may attain 250 feet in height. In Canada, the exporting of Christmas trees, including firs, pine and spruce, is important business. Seven provinces export trees to countries as far away as Venezuela.

May we add our very good wishes to the hosts of sparkling greetings fondly given and gladly accepted during this, the joyous Holiday Season of Good Will to All.

POINSETTIAS CAN PROSPER IF GIVEN PROPER CARE

The Christmas season is here, and so is the seasonal gift plant, the poinsettia. Although its flowers are rather inconspicuous, a colorful show is provided by the large scarlet or cream leaf-like bracts. Horticulturists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture tells us that the "flowering" period of these plants can be extended through the entire festive season when given proper care.

The plants should be kept at a constant temperature of 65° F. and at no time subjected to draughts, changes in temperature, may cause since this, in addition to continual the lower leaves to turn yellow and drop off. Place them in bright sunlight when possible, but avoid window ledges or locations near a hot air register.

Watering is a critical factor. Yellowing and loss of lower leaves can be caused by either over- or under-watering. In December when days are dark and cloudy, over-watering is a common occurrence. Refrain from adding water to these plants until the soil in the top of the pot is just dry to the touch. If

HOG PRODUCERS ASSEMBLY YARD AT MADOC

HOG ASSEMBLY YARD OFFICIALLY OPENED

On Monday, December 20th officials of the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board, Hastings County Hog Producers' Association, Madoc Agricultural Society and district hog producers met at the Madoc Agricultural grounds for the official opening of the Ontario Hog Producers' Assembly Yard.

The assembly point built by the Madoc Agricultural Society and leased to the Hog Producers' is said to be one of the best in Ontario and officials are justly proud of it. According to Grant Ketcheson, Yards Manager, over 100 hogs are received at this point weekly. The hogs are unloaded into chutes, marked and placed in dry, clean pens in the barn units. They are shipped to various points. On December 20th they were sold to Canada Packers at Hull, Quebec, for $41.45 a 100 lbs., dressed, for Grade 'A' hogs.

Murray Bateman, President, officiated for the short official opening ceremonies and after welcoming all present called upon Fred Crowe, Zone Director of the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board who officially opened the yard. In his remarks Mr. Crowe said it looked as if the Madoc Yard would be a permanent one and a profitable deal to both the Madoc Agricultural Society and to the Marketing Board.

Kenneth Holland, President of the Madoc Agricultural Society, said the building had been a united effort and that the Fair Association wouldn't have been able to build it alone.

Roy Sills, who is referred to as the father of the Co-operative, said he has for a long time been in favour of the farm marketing plan. This started on a shoe-string, he said, and today the assembly point at Madoc is one of the most up-to-date in the province.

Bob Crowler, sales manager for the Ontario Hog Producers' Marketing Board said the new yard was 100% better than the previous one and that the hogs were received in better condition. Hogs were available to all processors. The price of 43 cents was an all time high and he believed the price would stay up for a considerable time.

Other speakers included Burton Hubbell, Vice-President, Hastings County Hog Producers' Association, Irwin McCoy, Past President, Wilfred Forestell, Secretary, Hastings County Federation of Agriculture, and Bill Scott, who trucks the hogs to the various points.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH CANDLELIGHT SERVICE

The annual Candlelight Service was held on Sunday evening in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church which was well attended. The choir direction and organist was under Mrs. Irene Crawford, assisted by Mr. Stanley Hawthorne at the piano. The choir sang several selections.

Soloist, Miss Barbara Armstrong, sang "Come, See This Little Stranger," while Miss Lynne Armstrong sang "The Star of Bethlehem." The choir's anthem was "These Things She Pondered in Her Heart." The minister, Rev. Vernon Tozer, spoke on the Christmas Story.

The church was beautifully decorated with Christmas wreaths, spruce trees and other bright decorations by Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne, Sr., and the members of the choir.

ST. JOHN'S S.S. CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The annual children's pageant and concert was performed in St. John the Baptist Anglican Church Sunday evening. Each department of the church school participated in the program. The primary class and juniors said recitations, and sang Christmas carols. The second primary class performed the Christmas story as a puppet show. A full size puppet theatre was used along with seven children and teacher, Mr. Alan Danford, depicting the Nativity scene.

The junior choir sang "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear." Rev. J. H. Thompson spoke briefly on "The Eve of Christmas."

Following the service, a reception was held in the parish hall when the children received Christmas presents, candy and nuts. Parents and Women's Auxiliary members served light refreshments.

MADOC COMMUNITY CENTRE COMMITTEE

(Contributed)

Well, Christmas is over and another year is about to begin and the Committee members trust each and every one had a very Merry Christmas and that 1966 will be a prosperous one for all.

As you are driving by the Arena, you will notice that a new addition has been added on the south end. This is the compressor building which will house all the equipment for making artificial ice. At this time we thank the men from Madoc and district who helped put this building up. Quite a gang from Cooper had their hands in this building and I am sure they could put their time in at their own arena at this time of year, but they came full force to assist a community in trouble. The trouble we mean is mixing mortar, carrying blocks, laying blocks, and wading mud.

The pipe was ordered on December 23rd and will be shipped to Madoc, prepaid, about January 3rd, 1966. The reason for holding back on this order was that a welder had to be hired to install the 37,540 feet of pipe and this welder had to have a certificate from the Boiler Inspector to do the welding. Mr. Ross McNaught from Tweed has successfully passed the test to do this welding.

The project is still behind $4,000.00 and will be needing this amount to finish the job. As January 1st starts another year and as the receipts from the Madoc Community Centre will be deducted from your Income Tax, now is the time to contribute to a worthy project for your children.

The Kiwanis Club of Madoc will again be operating the Arena for 1967. This will be a non-profit arrangement as all profits will be turned over to the Arena for further improvements.

So let's join on the Ice Wagon for 1966.

CGIT CHRISTMAS VESPER SERVICE

The C.G.I.T. members of Trinity United Church performed the Christmas Vesper Service to a large congregation of parents and friends on Sunday evening. The junior choir assisted in the Christmas music.

IN MEMORIAM

SMITH — In loving memory of our dear parents, Frank J. Smith and Sarah G., who passed away Dec.
31, 1947, and Mother, Mar. 23, 1949;
our dear sisters, Mabel H. Smith,
Jan. 22, 1950, and Mary L. Watson,

Ernest, Feb. 5, 1920; Richard L.,
Jan. 18, 1952; Robert (Bert), Sept.
10, 1956; Clifford G., April 19, 1957, all formerly of Millbridge, Ontario.
In our hearts are the golden chains of memories.

And on this date of Dad's passing,
We pay tribute to those we love —
The words of comfort and deeds of kindness.

All those thoughts keep coming through —

Our dear parents, sisters and brothers, too.

It's sweet to remember them who once were here.

And who, though absent, are just as dear.

They are not dead, but passed beyond
The mist that finds us here.

Into that newer, larger life of that unclouded sphere.

The shining spirit and the love light stay.

The echo of their voice, their eyes,
their smiles.

Just as they were, are with us all the while.

Love's greatest gift, remembrance
Your loving family, daughters and son, sisters and brother.

IN MEMORIAM

PIDGEN — In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. Arthur Pidgen, who passed away Dec. 29, 1963.

The memory of your love and devotion
Keeps you ever with us.

Sadly missed and ever remembered

50 YEARS AGO

December 23, 1915

That your heart be free from any care; that peace of mind prevail and love for all old friends and co-workers be uppermost in your thoughts, that the scars of the past be forgotten and the hopes of the future fulfilled; and that Health, Happiness and Success be ever attendant through life. This is our wish for you for Every Day of Nineteen Hundred and Fifteen. North Hastings Review.

The New York Evening Telegram says is the great German Machine going to pieces? That it is breaking is believed in Holland where for some weeks there has been progressive deterioration in the public services between Germany and Holland and business relations have been delayed and confused and in some cases abandoned altogether. In the face of this unsatisfactory service the German Government has entered objections to the American couriers engaged in carrying diplomatic correspondence between Ambassadors Page in London and Gerard in Berlin, and the mail and a Dutch steamship will have to be utilized. Is it the beginning of the end?

On Friday night of last week the students of Madoc Model School met for a social evening and presented to their teacher Mr. R. A. McConnell a beautiful gold watch chain and locket. The address was read by Mr. L. T. Holmes of Picton and the presentation was made by Mr. R. F. Robson of Halloway. After an enjoyable evening lunch was partaken of at Mr. T. Caverly's restaurant.

At the nomination meeting held in the Town Hall on Monday night there was present the best representation of ratepayers that ever attended a meeting of such character held in Madoc for some time. The following is a list of those nominated for the various posts of honour—Public School Trustees, Arch Thompson, Wm. Kelly, J. A. Hill, F. Vandervoort; Councillors, M. Bristol, Chas. R. The dress worn by Queen Elizabeth in the Senate chamber during the royal tour was presented to Canada on behalf of the Queen by Princess Alice in a ceremony at the public archives at Ottawa on Thursday, December 19th. The robe de-style created by the Queen's famous London dressmaker Norman Hartnell, was fashioned from shimmering white satin. The dress has become well known to Canadians everywhere because the Queen wore it for the photograph taken when she stood with the King in the arch of the peace tower in Ottawa. The picture is one of the most popular of any taken during the tour.

Earl Rollins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rollins of Queensboro was killed on Monday when the car in which he was travelling was in collision with a wood truck near Wanapitac, near Sudbury. Stafford Genereaux of Queensboro and Winston Meyers of Warkworth who were with Mr. Rollins at the time of the accident, were injured and taken to Copper Cliff Hospital. The men were employed in a mine at Sudbury and were on their way home for Christmas.

Mr. Lynn Empey was the holder of the lucky ticket which won the cedar chest. The drawing was held under auspices of the Madoc Chapter of the Eastern Star. The proceeds from same went toward the purchase of an ambulance.

Dept. of Lands and Forests. A word of caution against undue optimism on the part of hunters and others wishing for an open season on moose was injected by the Dept's research workers who are in charge of the survey. The most general improvement in the moose population has taken place in the far northern sections of the Province while in other localities the situation remains quite critical.

A Toronto Co. is making preparations to begin drilling operations at the Ackerman gold mine about four miles east of Marmora on No. 7 Highway. Considerable development was done on this property a few years ago and it was reported some of the drilling showed ore with a high value in gold. Developments will be watched with a great deal of interest.

A two-year-old boy was killed and eight others were injured, some critically, as a result of a head-on collision on Highway 62, north of Bannockburn. Killed was Bert Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davidson of Millbridge, both of whom are in hospital. Two other sons Tommy, age 5, and Jimmie, age 1, are also in hospital. Occupants of the other car involved were Clifford Vardy, Turfiff, driver the vehicle and his wife; Robert Thompson of Steenburgh, and his son, Gordon Thompson. The accident occurred just at dusk about two miles north of Bannockburn, the two vehicles crashing with terrific force.

Starting January 1st all farm employees join 2,000,000 other Ontario workers with complete protection under Workmen's Compensation

With the co-operation of farm employers throughout the Province, the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board is now able to provide full compensation protection starting January 1st.

Protected how? With benefits up to $86.54 a week if an employee is disabled for more than two calendar days by an on-the-job accident or related disease happening on or after January 1st.

What about permanent disability? He's covered. Benefits include all medical expenses and pensions for permanent disability.

How about the worker's family? In death cases there are allowances for funeral expenses and pensions for widows and children.

Is this the same Workmen's Compensation that 2,000,000 men and women in other lines of work have protecting them? Exactly the same.

What about the Farmer? He and his wife also can be covered by Workmen's Compensation, by making a special application to the Workmen's Compensation Board.

And his Family? If they work on the same farm and get a stated wage, they are automatically covered, as is the Farm Employee.

Is there a charge to the Farm Employee for this? No. Farm employers provide this protection through assessments based on their 1966 payroll, payable in August.

FARM EMPLOYEES COVERED BY COMPENSATION ACT

Workmen's Compensation protection for all Ontario farm employees will become effective January 1, 1966.

Some 1,700 farmers in the Province have provided this benefit in the past but protection is now extended to include all farmers providing they employ full or part time help.

The same protection will be available on a voluntary basis to farmers not employing help. Application may be made to The Workmen's Compensation Board for coverage for themselves and their wives who are considered partners under The Workmen's Compensation Act.

of the year, The Honourable William Stewart, Minister of Agriculture, and The Honourable H. Leslie Rowntree, Minister of Labour, pointed out that, apart from providing the excellent benefits within the Act, they place the farmer in a better competitive position in the labour market with the more than 100,000 industrial and retail employers already reporting to the Board.

"At the present time, with employable help at such a premium, the farmer is at a distinct disadvantage in comparison with the industrial employer who is already safeguarded by The Workmen's Compensation Act. The employment seeker will choose the employer who has the best protection against loss of earnings arising out of injury on the job."

Compensation protection provides many benefits for those injured as a result of an accident arising out of and in the course of their employment.

In minor injuries where the employee is off work for less than two days, medical and hospital bills are paid.

In more serious cases where the injured person is totally disabled, he will receive 75% of his average earnings and all medical or hospital treatment as long as necessary. There is a maximum earnings basis of $6,000.00 a year. For example, an injured farm hand with average earnings of $60.00 per week would receive $45.00 a week as long as he is totally disabled. When he is medically fit to work part time or take on light duties, his compensation payments would be reduced until such time as he is able to return to his job on a full time basis. Where average earnings are $30.00 per week or less, the actual earning rate becomes the compensation rate.

If permanent disability results, a pension is payable for life, regardless of any future earnings. There are also other financial benefits including widows' and children's pensions and funeral expenses in the case of fatalities.

All these benefits will also be available to the self employed farmer and his wife who request coverage for themselves at any amount between $2,500.00 and $6,000.00 per year, following application and payment.

Farm employees will receive the protection of the Act from January 1, 1966 even though the employers have not filed a payroll statement or paid an assessment to the Board. Assessments when issued are payable in sixty days. In the case of farmers, they would be issued in June and payable in August.

For the purposes of Board assessment, the farming industry is divided into two divisions:

Class 27 (1), with an assessment rate of $1.00 per $100.00 of assessable payroll, covers the operations of tobacco farms, mushroom farms, fur farms, fruit farms other than tree fruit, chicken and turkey farms, chick hatcheries, bee keeping, nurserymen, market gardening, florists, cultivating or gardening.

Class 27 (2), with an assessment rate of $3.50 per $100.00, covers the operations of general farming, tree fruit farming, Christmas tree farms, dairy and stock farms, horse farms, ensilage cutters, hay baling machines, threshing machines, cash crops mechanically harvested, farm drainage contractors.

In the past four years under farm coverage by application, rates for Class 27 (1) have been reduced from $1.25 to $1.00, and for Class 27 (2) from $4.50 to $3.50.

Information, explanatory booklets and forms for reporting accidents are available from The Workmen's Compensation Board in Toronto and their District Offices in Ottawa, Windsor, Port Arthur, Kitchener and North Bay.
